PM chairs virtual meet with CMs amid West Asia crisis

Prime Minister Narendra Modi urges 'Team India' approach to ensure supply stability during crisis

- Virtual meet held: PM with Chief Ministers
- Focus areas: Fuel, essential commodities supply
- Crisis trigger: West Asia conflict, Hormuz concerns
- Team India push: Centre-state coordination stressed
- COVID model: Reference for joint response
- Goal: Prevent shortages, ensure stability

The Chief Ministers who attended the meeting included N Chandra Babu Naidu (Andhra Pradesh), Yogi Adityanath (Uttar Pradesh), Revanth Reddy (Telangana), Bhagwant Mann (Punjab), Bhupendra Patel (Gujarat), Omar Abdullah (Jammu and Kashmir), Sukhvinder Singh Sukhu (Himachal Pradesh), Pema Khandu (Arunachal Pradesh) among others.

NEW DELHI

Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Friday chaired a high-level virtual meeting with Chief Ministers to review preparedness and ensure uninterrupted supply of fuel and essential commodities as tensions escalate in West Asia.

The meeting comes as the ongoing conflict raises concerns over global energy supply disruptions, particularly with fears surrounding the strategic Strait of Hormuz. The Centre is coordinating closely with states, which are expected to play a key role in maintaining ground-level supply chains and preventing shortages.

Recalling the coordinated response during the COVID-19 pandemic, Modi emphasised the importance of a unified "Team India" approach. He urged states to make special arrangements to ensure that essential commodities remain available without disruption, stressing that cooperation between the Centre and states is crucial in times of global uncertainty.

Officials noted that similar virtual interactions during the pandemic helped streamline efforts in healthcare, logistics, and vaccination, setting a precedent for collaborative governance. The Prime Minister highlighted that the same spirit of coordination must guide the nation in addressing current challenges arising from geopolitical tensions.

The Centre has already taken measures to stabilise fuel availability and manage supply chains, while states have been asked to monitor local distribution closely and prevent panic buying. The government aims to cushion citizens from the economic impact of global volatility.

The renewed push for "Team India" underscores India's federal structure, where coordinated action between the Centre and states remains key to navigating crises effectively.

CENTRE CUTS FUEL EXCISE BY ₹10, IMPOSES EXPORT DUTY

NEW DELHI

₹10/litre Excise duty cut on petrol, diesel	₹21.5/litre Export duty on diesel
₹29.5/litre Export duty on ATF	$70 ₹122/barrel Recent crude oil price surge
₹1.55 lakh crore Estimated annual fiscal impact	30–40% OMC losses likely absorbed by duty cut

Move aims to shield consumers as global crude prices surge sharply

The Union government on Friday reduced central excise duty on petrol and diesel by ₹10 per litre, while simultaneously imposing fresh export levies on petroleum products to manage domestic supply amid a sharp rise in global crude oil prices.

Announcing the decision, Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman said the move was aimed at protecting consumers from rising fuel costs triggered by escalating tensions in West Asia. She emphasised that the government, led by Narendra Modi, has prioritised insulating citizens from global price volatility.

Alongside the excise cut, the Centre imposed an export duty of ₹21.5 per litre on diesel and ₹29.5 per litre on aviation turbine fuel (ATF), seeking to ensure adequate domestic availability as international rates climb. Petroleum Minister Hardeep Singh Puri noted that crude oil prices have surged from around $70 to $122 per barrel in recent weeks, leading to steep increases worldwide.

He pointed out that fuel prices have risen by up to 50% in several regions, forcing the government to choose between passing on the burden to consumers or absorbing it through reduced revenues. Oil marketing companies are currently incurring losses of about ₹24 per litre on petrol and ₹30 on diesel, he added.

Analysts estimate the excise cut could offset 30–40% of these losses, with a fiscal impact of nearly ₹1.55 lakh crore annually. The export duty is expected to discourage excessive overseas sales and stabilise domestic fuel supplies amid ongoing geopolitical uncertainty.

Party alleges massive tax burden, warns of fuel price hikes post-elections

Congress criticises Centre over fuel prices, corporate favouritism

BENGALURU

The Congress on Friday launched a sharp attack on the Centre over fuel prices and taxation policies, accusing the government of burdening citizens while favouring private companies.

Addressing the media, Congress General Secretary Randeep Singh Surjewala alleged that the government led by Narendra Modi has collected nearly ₹43 lakh crore over the past 11 years through excise and customs duties on petrol and diesel, averaging around ₹1,000 crore per day.

He argued that despite global crude oil prices declining compared to 2014 levels, domestic fuel prices have increased significantly. According to him, petrol prices have risen from about ₹71 per litre to over ₹102, while diesel has gone up from ₹56 to ₹91 per litre. LPG cylinder prices, he added, have more than doubled during the same period.

Surjewala criticised the excise duty cut announced by the Centre, claiming that the relief largely benefits private oil companies such as Nayara Energy and Reliance, with minimal impact on common consumers. He described the taxation system as a "cycle of loot" that places an unfair burden on the public.

He also warned that fuel prices could rise again after the upcoming elections, urging the Centre to ensure stability and transparency in pricing. Congress leaders said the issue directly impacts household budgets and called for immediate measures to reduce the financial strain on citizens.

Centre may raise fuel prices after polls: DyCM D.K. Shivakumar

Deputy Chief Minister D. K. Shivakumar on Friday alleged that the Centre may hike petrol and diesel prices after elections, calling it an "election gimmick." He claimed the government collects nearly ₹1,000 crore daily through fuel taxes and questioned its utilisation. Speaking in Bengaluru, he accused the Centre of favouring select corporates and failing to ensure fair fuel pricing and adequate LPG supply to southern states. He also pointed to a sharp rise in fuel prices since 2014 and alleged temporary price cuts are aimed at electoral gains.

MLAs get free IPL tickets after Prasad meets CM

BENGALURU

Karnataka MLAs will receive free tickets for the IPL opener at the M Chinnaswamy Stadium after a meeting between Venkatesh Prasad and Chief Minister Siddaramaiah on Friday, ending a controversy that had sparked outrage among legislators.

The issue erupted after MLAs expressed anger over not being allotted complimentary tickets for Saturday's opening match between Royal Challengers Bengaluru and Sunrisers Hyderabad. Several legislators refused to stand in queues or book tickets online, citing their status and alleging disrespect by the Karnataka State Cricket Association (KSCA).

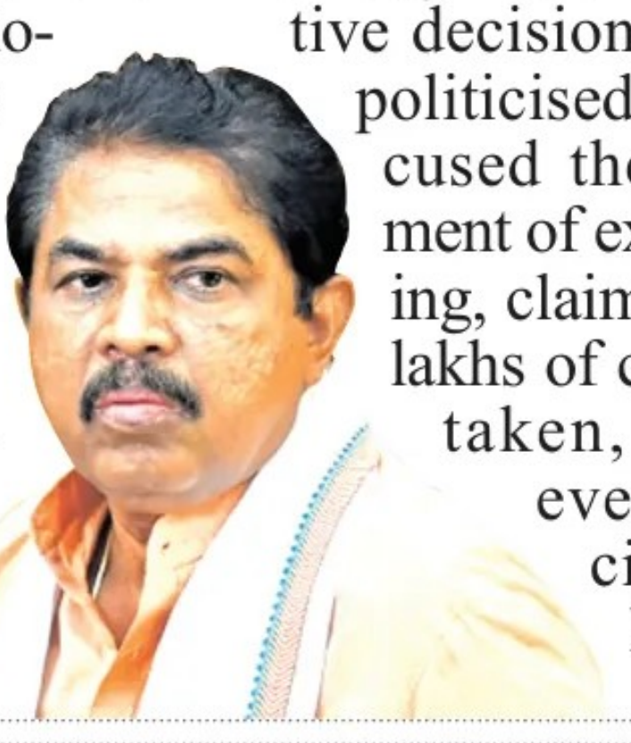
Following Prasad's meeting with the Chief Minister, sources indicated that MLAs would now be given free entry, along with a dedicated stand at the stadium.

'Will fight if state raises fuel prices'

BENGALURU

Leader of the Opposition R. Ashoka on Friday warned that the BJP would strongly oppose any move by the Congress-led state government to increase petrol and diesel prices, despite cuts announced by the Centre.

Speaking to reporters at Vidhana Soudha, he thanked Prime Minister Narendra Modi for reducing fuel prices, stating the decision would benefit the public. However, he alleged that the state government might attempt to offset the reduction by increasing local taxes to generate revenue. "If they try to raise oil prices, we will fight hard," he asserted.



Ashoka also criticised the Congress for linking fuel price cuts to elections, arguing that polls are held throughout the year and positive decisions should not be politicised. He further accused the state government of excessive borrowing, claiming loans worth lakhs of crores have been taken, which could eventually burden citizens through higher taxes.

Raising concerns over governance, he alleged irregularities in welfare schemes and questioned the utilisation of funds in projects such as Grihalakshmi and Annabhagya, claiming the government had failed to provide clear answers. He also criticised urban development plans in Bengaluru, alleging mismanagement and lack of financial discipline.

Centre's excise cut benefits people: Vijayendra

BJP state president B. Y. Vijayendra on Friday welcomed the Centre's decision to cut excise duty on petrol and diesel by ₹10 per litre, calling it a firm step in favour of common people. He congratulated Prime Minister Narendra Modi and the Union government for absorbing the burden during a global crisis. Speaking to reporters in Bengaluru, Vijayendra said while fuel prices have surged worldwide, India's decision would ease pressure on citizens. He criticised the Congress for "blaming others" to cover up failures. He also noted that leaders, including H. D. Kumaraswamy, would campaign for upcoming by-elections.

Seven dead in Ladakh avalanche; highway blocked

SRINAGAR: Seven people were killed and five others injured after a massive avalanche struck near Zoji La in Ladakh on Friday, blocking the crucial Srinagar-Leh highway and leaving several vehicles buried under snow. Union Minister Jitendra Singh confirmed the casualties, expressing condolences to the victims' families. Officials said the death toll could rise as multiple vehicles remain trapped beneath the snow. Rescue operations are underway from both Sonamarg and Drass sides, involving over 100 personnel, including the Army, Border Roads Organisation, SDRF and police teams.

Balen Shah sworn in as Nepal's youngest PM at 35

KATHMANDU: Balendra Shah, popularly known as Balen, was on Friday sworn in as Nepal's youngest Prime Minister at the age of 35, following a sweeping electoral victory that marked a dramatic shift in the country's political landscape. The rapper-turned-politician, representing the Rastriya Swatantra Party, secured a landslide mandate in the recent parliamentary elections, winning 182 seats in the 275-member House. His rise comes after mass anti-corruption protests last year that led to the collapse of the previous government and triggered demands for generational change.

IRAN ON STRIKE TARGETS

Iran flags Gulf hotels sheltering US troops as strike targets

NEW DELHI

Tensions in West Asia escalated further after Iran warned that hotels in Gulf countries housing American troops could become military targets amid the ongoing conflict.

According to reports, several US military bases across the region have been severely damaged in recent strikes, forcing American soldiers to take shelter in civilian facilities, including hotels in countries like Bahrain and the United Arab Emirates.

Iranian military spokesperson Abolfazl Shekarchi said any location sheltering US forces would be considered a legitimate target. He stated that once American troops occupy civilian infrastructure, those sites effectively become extensions of US military presence.

- 13+ bases hit: US military sites damaged
- $800 million losses: Estimated damage in early weeks
- Gulf hotels: New shelter points for troops
- Bahrain & UAE: Key locations under warning
- Rising risk: Civilian areas exposed to conflict

The warning follows earlier remarks by Iran's Foreign Minister Abbas Araghchi, who urged Gulf hotels not to accommodate US personnel, accusing them of using civilians as "human shields."

Reports indicate that at least 13 US bases across the Gulf have been rendered largely unusable, with significant damage inflicted on key facilities. The escalating conflict has already caused heavy financial losses and forced troop relocations, exposing vulnerabilities in US operations.

The situation has raised concerns over civilian safety, as hotels and urban areas risk being drawn into direct conflict. Iran has also reportedly called on civilians to share intelligence on US troop locations, further intensifying fears of a broader regional escalation.

No lockdown in India, rumours 'completely false', says Centre

NEW DELHI

Amid rising speculation over a possible lockdown due to the ongoing West Asia crisis, Union Ministers on Friday firmly dismissed the claims, calling them baseless and misleading.

Union Petroleum Minister Hardeep Singh Puri said there is "no proposal under consideration" for any lockdown in India, urging citizens not to fall for rumours. He described attempts to spread panic as "irresponsible and harmful," especially at a time when the global situation remains uncertain. Puri assured that the government is closely monitoring developments related to energy supplies, global markets, and essential commodities in real time. He emphasised that India remains well-prepared to handle emerging challenges and has taken all necessary steps to ensure uninterrupted availability of fuel and critical resources.

Echoing similar views, Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman categorically ruled out any lockdown-like measures, stating that such claims were completely false.

The Centre also highlighted that India currently has sufficient reserves, including around 60 days of crude oil and nearly a month's supply of LPG, to meet domestic demand.

IMD Predicts Rain Relief Amid Rising Heat in Karnataka

Bengaluru

Amid rising temperatures and increasing discomfort due to heat, the India Meteorological Department has forecasted rain in several parts of the state over the coming days. According to the latest weather report, several districts in Karnataka are likely to experience rainfall accompanied by thunderstorms, lightning, and even hail in isolated areas. This forecast comes as a welcome development for people who have been struggling with intense heat conditions in recent days. The IMD has indicated that the changing weather pattern will bring a mix of conditions across the state. While southern and central regions are expected to receive rainfall and relatively cooler temperatures, parts of North Karnataka will continue to experience high temperatures and dry conditions.

Transport Dept Sets March 31 Deadline for Fire Safety Compliance

Bengaluru

Despite repeated advisories and enforcement efforts, officials estimate that nearly 90 percent of private sleeper coaches and air-conditioned buses in the state are still operating without adequate fire safety systems. This alarming figure has raised serious concerns within the department, particularly in light of past fire accidents that have led to fatalities and severe injuries. Transport officials have emphasized that basic safety requirements such as fire extinguishers, emergency exits, fire detection systems, and proper wiring must be installed and maintained in all passenger buses. However, many operators have reportedly ignored these norms, prioritizing cost savings over passenger safety.

Ashoka Raises Concerns Over IPL Safety and Ticket Distribution

Bengaluru

Speaking at the Vidhana Soudha, Ashoka expressed serious concerns about crowd management and safety measures during IPL matches in the state. He referred to a previous incident in which a stampede during an IPL-related event resulted in the deaths of 11 people, describing it as a tragic consequence of administrative negligence and lack of proper planning. Ashoka alleged that the state government and concerned officials failed to ensure adequate safety protocols during the earlier incident. He stressed that such lapses must not be repeated and called for comprehensive arrangements to manage large crowds expected at upcoming matches.

Govt Announces Key Reforms to Reduce SSLC Exam Pressure

Karnataka's School Education and Literacy Minister S. Madhu Bangarappa has announced a series of reforms in the SSLC examination system

BENGALURU

Addressing the media, the minister stated that the third language component in SSLC examinations will now be shifted to a grading system instead of the existing marks-based evaluation. Until now, students were assessed out of 625 marks, with 100 marks allocated to the third language. Under the new system, students will no longer be categorized as pass or fail in the third language. Instead, grades such as A, B, C, or D will be awarded, and these scores will not be included in the final aggregate marks.

The minister clarified that this rule will apply uniformly to all third languages offered in the curriculum, including Hindi, Sanskrit, Tulu, Marathi, and Arabic. An official government order detailing these changes is expected to be issued shortly.

In another important initiative, the government has introduced Moral Science education for students starting from the current academic year. Free textbooks will be provided to students, reflecting the government's commitment to nurturing responsible and ethical citizens.

The minister also highlighted a proposal to restrict social media usage for children below the age of 16, citing concerns over mental health and the long-term impact on students' futures. The proposal has received strong support during discussions in the Assembly. However, he emphasized that the issue cannot be addressed by the government alone and urged parents to take greater responsibility in monitoring their children's mobile phone usage.

Reiterating the government's broader vision, the minister stated that strengthening public schools, ensuring transparency, and reducing exam-related stress remain key priorities. As part of these efforts, the system of conducting three annual examinations has been implemented, allowing students multiple opportunities to improve their performance and secure better scores.

KEA Reschedules NWKRTC Recruitment Exam to April 10

BENGALURU

According to officials, the examination, which was initially planned for April 9, will now be conducted on April 10 to avoid any clash with the polling process. The KEA stated that this move is aimed at ensuring smooth conduct of both the elections and the recruitment examination, without causing inconvenience to candidates or administrative authorities. The decision comes in light of the by-elections scheduled for two Assembly constituencies on April 9.

The recruitment drive is being held to fill a total of 33 vacant posts within the NWKRTC. The written examination will take place at designated centers in Bengaluru and Dharwad. Authorities have confirmed that necessary arrangements are being made at both locations to facilitate candidates appearing for the test.

KEA Executive Director H. Prasanna informed that admit cards for the examination will be released shortly. Candidates are advised to download their hall tickets once available and strictly follow the revised schedule while appearing for the examination.

He further revealed that approximately 2,500 candidates have applied for these posts, reflecting significant interest in the recruitment process. With a large number of applicants expected to appear, the authority has emphasized adherence to guidelines and timely reporting at examination centers.

The rescheduling ensures that candidates are not forced to choose between participating in the democratic process and attending the examination. Officials have urged applicants to stay updated through official notifications and prepare accordingly for the revised exam date.

The Karnataka Examinations Authority (KEA) has announced the rescheduling of the recruitment examination for various vacant posts in the North Western Karnataka Road Transport Corporation (NWKRTC).

The govt has introduced a series of major initiatives under its Industrial Policy 2025–30 to accelerate industrial growth and bring entrepreneurs from marginalized communities into the mainstream

State Unveils Industrial Policy with Boost for SC/ST Entrepreneurs

BENGALURU

According to the government, the new Industrial Policy 2025–30 focuses on attracting investments through a range of incentives and subsidies. Key highlights of the policy include capital investment subsidies and turnover-based incentives designed to encourage businesses to expand operations in the state. Investors will also benefit from exemptions on stamp duty and concessions in registration charges, making it easier to establish new industrial units.

Additionally, the policy offers relief in electricity-related costs, including exemptions on electricity duty and financial assistance for power consumption. Special incentives have also been announced for industries adopting advanced technologies, export-oriented units, and sustainable industrial practices, reflecting the government's emphasis on modernization and environmentally responsible growth.

A major component of the policy is a dedicated support package for entrepreneurs belonging to Scheduled Castes (SC) and Scheduled Tribes (ST). Under the Special Component Plan, eligible industrial units with investments up to ₹10 crore can avail soft seed capital assistance of up to ₹75 lakh. This assistance comes with a four-year moratorium period, followed by a flexible repayment schedule of five years.

Further, substantial subsidies are being offered on land allocation. Industrial plots of up to two acres allotted through state agencies will receive up to 75 percent subsidy, significantly reducing the cost burden on new entrepreneurs.

The government has also announced a 60 percent subsidy on loans taken from banks for setting up micro and small enterprises, with a maximum benefit of ₹5 lakh. This measure is expected to encourage grassroots entrepreneurship and enable individuals from disadvantaged communities to establish sustainable businesses.

Overall, the policy aims to create a more inclusive industrial ecosystem, strengthen economic growth, and ensure equal opportunities for all sections of society in Karnataka's development journey.

Karnataka Yet to Decide on Fuel Tax Cut

BENGALURU

Karnataka Home Minister G. Parameshwara has stated that the state government will take a decision on reducing fuel taxes only after discussions in the cabinet, following the Centre's recent move to cut excise duty on petrol and diesel. Responding to questions from the media in Bengaluru, the minister clarified that any decision regarding a reduction in state-level excise duty will be taken by Chief Minister Siddaramaiah. He added that the matter would be discussed in the cabinet if it is formally brought up for consideration.

The statement comes in the wake of a major announcement by the central government, which has reduced excise duty on fuel, offering relief to consumers.

As per the announcement, the excise duty on petrol has been significantly reduced, bringing it down from ₹13 per litre to ₹3 per litre. Similarly, the excise duty on diesel, which earlier stood at ₹10 per litre, has now been reduced to zero.

Snakebite Cases Rise in Karnataka, 273 Deaths Reported in Three Years

BENGALURU

Karnataka has witnessed a sharp rise in snakebite cases over the past three years, with 36,636 incidents reported and 273 deaths recorded. Health Minister Dinesh Gundu Rao shared these figures in the Legislative Council while outlining the government's measures to tackle the growing public health concern.

Responding to a question raised by Council member K. Govindaraj during the session, the minister presented detailed data indicating a year-on-year increase in both snakebite cases and fatalities. The trend has raised concerns among health authorities, prompting the government to strengthen monitoring and response mechanisms.

The state government has classified snakebite as a notifiable disease in 2024. This means that all government and private hospitals are now required to mandatorily report snakebite cases to the authorities. The move is expected to ensure accurate tracking and timely intervention in such cases. The minister emphasized that free treatment is being provided across all primary health centers, community health centers, and district hospitals. Anti-snake venom (ASV), the primary life-saving treatment for snakebite, is being made available at no cost to patients across the state.

Karnataka Orders Action to Reclaim 444 Acres of Forest Land from Air Force

BENGALURU

In a significant move to protect forest land, Karnataka Forest Minister Eshwar Khandre has issued written instructions to initiate action for reclaiming 444 acres of forest land in Bengaluru North taluk. The land, located in Jarakabande Kaval, is currently under the possession of the Indian Air Force. According to official directives, the minister has instructed the department to begin proceedings under Section 64A of the Karnataka Forest Act, 1963, to take back the land. He has communicated separate instructions to the Additional Chief Secretary of the concerned department, emphasizing the urgency of the matter.

The land in question, measuring over 444 acres, was originally part of a larger allocation of approximately 452 acres granted to the Indian Air Force. However, the state government had cancelled this allotment on October 9, 2017, with the intention of preserving the area as a vital ecological zone and green lung for the city.

Despite the cancellation, it has been alleged that the Indian Air Force continued to use the land without complying with legal requirements. The minister pointed out that after the cancellation, the Air Force was required to apply under the provisions of the Forest Conservation Act 1980 and seek alternative land through due process. However, this procedure was reportedly not followed, leading to violations of forest regulations.

As part of the enforcement process, officials have been directed to issue notices under Section 64A and proceed with eviction of the encroachment. The minister also clarified that the Air Force has no legal claim over the land following the cancellation of the allotment.

Furthermore, strict instructions have been issued that any future infrastructure development in the area must receive prior approval from the forest department through the Parivesh portal, ensuring compliance with environmental regulations. Departments across the state will also be notified to prevent unauthorized use of forest land.

Two Arrested for Cheating Youth with Fake Forest Department Posts

TUMAKURU

A major job fraud has come to light in Tumakuru district, where several young job seekers were allegedly cheated of lakhs of rupees with false promises of employment in the forest department. The Tumakuru Rural Police Station has registered a case and arrested two accused in connection with the scam. According to police reports, the accused identified as Pavan and Kiran lured nearly 15 unemployed youths by promising them government jobs in forest areas near Mysuru. The victims were each asked to pay amounts ranging from ₹3 lakh to ₹5 lakh, under the pretext of securing official postings in the forest department.

The accused allegedly created an elaborate scheme to convince the victims of the authenticity of their claims. They issued fake appointment letters using forged letterheads resembling those of senior forest department officials. To further strengthen their deception, the accused even arranged for a so-called training program for the candidates.

This training was conducted at a farmhouse in Vaddarahalli village in Tumakuru taluk, where the victims were made to believe they were undergoing official preparation before joining duty. The use of a physical training setup added credibility to the fraud, making it difficult for the victims to suspect foul play initially.

However, doubts arose when the promised job postings failed to materialize even after the completion of the training. Realizing they had been deceived, the victims approached the Tumakuru Rural Police and lodged a formal complaint. Acting swiftly, the police launched an investigation and managed to trace and arrest the two main accused.

Rider's Alert Saves 21 as KSRTC Bus Catches Fire

BENGALURU

A two-wheeler rider's timely alert helped avert a major tragedy after a KSRTC bus caught fire near Lulu Mall on Magadi Road. The bus, travelling from Bengaluru to Shivamogga, had 21 passengers on board.

According to officials, the rider noticed flames emerging from the bus and immediately alerted the driver. Acting swiftly, the driver stopped the vehicle by the roadside, while the conductor and crew evacuated all passengers to safety.

The fire is suspected to have originated from a spark in the starter. Despite attempts by the crew to douse the flames using a fire extinguisher, the blaze spread rapidly. Fire brigade personnel reached the spot promptly and brought the fire under control.

All passengers were later shifted to another bus, and no injuries were reported. Authorities have launched an investigation into the exact cause of the incident. The alertness of the rider and the quick response of the bus staff have been widely praised for preventing a potential disaster.

BIRTHDAY ROBBERY ARRESTS

Five Arrested for Robbery to Fund Birthday Party

BENGALURU

In a disturbing incident near Bengaluru, five young men have been arrested for allegedly robbing engineering students to finance a birthday celebration. The arrests were carried out by the Doddaballapur Rural Police Station after a complaint was filed by the victims.

According to police officials, the accused have been identified as Munegowda, Anand, Gagan, Tilak, and Akash. The group reportedly carried out the robbery near GITAM University situated in Nagadevanahalli, under the jurisdiction of Doddaballapur in Bengaluru Rural district. The accused allegedly targeted engineering students in the area, threatening and assaulting them before extorting money.

Preliminary investigations revealed that the victims, who are Bachelor of Engineering students, were intercepted by the accused near the university. The attackers intimidated them and physically assaulted them, creating fear and forcing them to hand over money. In a concerning detail, the accused reportedly used digital payment platforms such as PhonePe to transfer money directly from the victims' accounts, highlighting a growing trend of tech-enabled crimes.

Police sources stated that the motive behind the crime was to arrange funds for Anand's birthday party. The group allegedly planned the act in advance, identifying students as easy targets. This revelation has raised concerns over rising incidents of petty crimes being committed for trivial reasons.

Following the incident, the injured students approached the police and lodged a formal complaint. Based on their statement, a case was registered, and a swift investigation was launched. The police team acted promptly, tracing the accused and arresting all five individuals involved in the crime. They are currently being interrogated to determine whether they have been involved in similar offenses in the past.

Authorities have assured that strict legal action will be taken against the accused. Meanwhile, police have urged students, especially those living away from home, to remain alert and avoid isolated areas, particularly during late hours.

Mosquito Fogging Drive Conducted in Hebbal Division

Bengaluru

The Health Department of the Bengaluru North City Corporation carried out a mosquito fogging drive in Hebbal Division as part of its efforts to control mosquito breeding and prevent the spread of vector-borne diseases. The fogging operation was undertaken in several parts of Hebbal Division, targeting areas prone to mosquito infestation such as residential neighborhoods, drains, and stagnant water zones. The initiative is part of the corporation's ongoing public health measures to tackle diseases like dengue, malaria, and chikungunya, which tend to rise during changing weather conditions.

Bengaluru Launches 'Retail – Clean Food' Initiative

Bengaluru

In a move aimed at improving food safety standards, Bengaluru has announced a unique pilot project titled 'Retail – Clean Food' in its 2026–27 budget. The initiative, backed by an allocation of ₹25 lakh, seeks to ensure that street food lovers can enjoy hygienic and safe meals across the city. The new scheme focuses on regulating and upgrading the quality of street food vendors while promoting public health. Under this initiative, vendors will not only be permitted to continue their businesses but will also receive specialized training in food safety and hygiene standards. The training will be conducted in collaboration with the Food Safety and Standards Authority of India.

KIADB Accused of False Information in Land Acquisition Case

Doddaballapur

Serious allegations have emerged against the Karnataka Industrial Areas Development Board for allegedly submitting incorrect information to the High Court during a land acquisition process near Konaghatta in Doddaballapur taluk. The issue has sparked concern among farmers and raised questions about transparency in land acquisition procedures. According to reports, the controversy pertains to Phase 2 of a land acquisition project in the Konaghatta area. It has been alleged that KIADB officials informed the court that the 10 acres of land under consideration did not contain any trees, houses, or borewells.

BNCC to Present Budget 2026–27 on March 28

The Bengaluru North City Corporation is all set to present its Budget Estimates for the financial year 2026–27 today, laying out a comprehensive roadmap for infrastructure growth, public services, and urban development

BENGALURU

The budget session will be held on Saturday at 9:30 AM at Dr. B.R. Ambedkar Bhavan in Yelahanka. The event is expected to bring together elected representatives, senior government officials, civic authorities, and citizens, making it an important forum for discussing the city's future development plans.

According to officials, the upcoming budget will outline key priorities aimed at addressing the growing needs of Bengaluru North, one of the fastest-developing regions in the city. With rapid urbanization and population growth, the corporation is expected to focus heavily on strengthening infrastructure, including road networks, drainage systems, and traffic management solutions.

In addition, significant emphasis is likely to be placed on improving essential public services such as water supply, sanitation, waste management, and public healthcare. Authorities are also expected to propose new initiatives to enhance civic amenities and ensure better service delivery to residents.

Sustainable development is anticipated to be a major highlight of the budget. Plans may include environmental conservation measures, promotion of green spaces, and adoption of eco-friendly technologies to address urban challenges such as pollution and resource management. The corporation is also likely to focus on digital governance and smart city solutions to improve efficiency and transparency in administration.

The BNCC budget presentation will not only provide details of financial allocations but also reflect the administration's vision for inclusive and balanced growth. Officials have stressed the importance of citizen participation, indicating that feedback and suggestions from the public will play a role in shaping policies and projects.

Overall, the budget is expected to set the tone for Bengaluru North's development in the coming year, with a focus on modernization, sustainability, and improved quality of life for its residents.

Independent Candidate Sadiq Pailwan Meets CM Siddaramaiah

BENGALURU

According to the Chief Minister, Sadiq Pailwan, who has filed his nomination as an independent candidate for the Davanagere by-election, visited him and held discussions regarding the current political scenario. During the meeting, Pailwan reportedly assured continued support and indicated that he would remain aligned with the ruling leadership in the state. Karnataka Chief Minister Siddaramaiah shared the update, stating that Sadiq Pailwan met him along with his supporters and conveyed his willingness to align with the government.

The development is being seen as politically significant, especially in the context of the upcoming by-election, where every alliance and support base can influence the outcome. Independent candidates often play a crucial role in closely contested elections, and such expressions of support can shift local political dynamics.

Sources indicate that the meeting was attended by Pailwan's supporters as well, signaling a collective decision rather than an individual move. While details of the discussions have not been officially disclosed, the Chief Minister's statement suggests a positive engagement between the two sides.

In a significant political development ahead of the Davanagere by-election, an independent candidate has expressed support for the ruling leadership.

Political observers believe that this move could strengthen the ruling party's position in the Davanagere constituency, as local leaders and independent candidates often hold sway over grassroots voters. The gesture may also reflect efforts by the ruling leadership to consolidate support ahead of the polls.

At the same time, the development is likely to draw reactions from opposition parties, who may view it as an attempt to influence the electoral landscape. With campaigning expected to intensify in the coming days, such alignments are expected to play a key role in shaping the narrative of the by-election.

The meeting highlights the fluid nature of electoral politics, where alliances and support can evolve rapidly in the run-up to elections. As the by-election approaches, all eyes will be on how these developments impact voter sentiment and the overall political equation in Davanagere.

The Shivajinagar Traffic Police Station organized an educational session for students within its jurisdiction

Shivajinagar Traffic Police Conduct Road Safety Awareness

BENGALURU

The awareness program was conducted by police officers and staff as part of ongoing initiatives to educate children about traffic rules and responsible road behavior. During the session, students were given detailed guidance on basic road safety practices, including how to safely cross roads, the importance of using pedestrian crossings, and the need to follow traffic signals.

Officials also explained the significance of wearing helmets and seat belts, emphasizing that safety measures are essential not only for adults but also for children. The session highlighted common road risks and the steps students can take to protect themselves while commuting to and from school.

Interactive demonstrations and simple examples were used to help students better understand traffic signs and rules. Police personnel encouraged students to adopt safe habits and also act as responsible citizens by spreading awareness among their family members and peers.

The initiative aimed to instill a sense of discipline and awareness at an early age, ensuring that children grow up with a clear understanding of road safety norms. Authorities believe that educating young minds can play a crucial role in reducing accidents and improving overall traffic compliance in the long run.

The Shivajinagar Traffic Police reiterated their commitment to community outreach and road safety education. They stated that similar awareness programs will continue to be conducted in schools across the area to build a safer environment for all road users.

Chintamani Love Marriage Ends in Shocking Murder

CHINTAMANI

A shocking murder has been reported in Chintamani following a love marriage involving a 40-year-old man and a young woman. The incident has sent shockwaves through the locality, raising concerns over family disputes turning violent.

According to police sources, the incident occurred in Chintamani town, where a woman was allegedly murdered in connection with her son's relationship. The victim is said to be the mother of the man who was involved in a love marriage with a young woman, reportedly the sister of the accused.

Preliminary investigations suggest that tensions had been brewing between the two families after the woman's son married the sister of the accused without the consent of her family. The relationship and subsequent marriage are believed to have triggered anger and resentment among the girl's relatives.

On the day of the incident, the accused allegedly confronted the victim at her residence. During the altercation, the situation escalated, and the accused is said to have attacked the woman, resulting in her death. The exact nature of the assault is yet to be officially confirmed by authorities. Police have registered a case and launched an investigation into the matter. Efforts are underway to apprehend the accused and gather further details about the sequence of events leading to the murder. Authorities are also examining whether others were involved in the crime.

Rowdy Sheeters Parade Conducted Under DySP Muralidhar in Shidlaghatta

CHIKKABALLAPUR

In a strong step towards maintaining law and order, a rowdy sheeters' parade was conducted at the Shidlaghatta Rural Police Station under the leadership of Deputy Superintendent of Police Muralidhar. The initiative is part of ongoing efforts to monitor habitual offenders and prevent criminal activities in the region. The parade took place within the premises of the rural police station, where several listed rowdy sheeters were summoned and made to appear before senior police officials. Such exercises are a regular feature of preventive policing, aimed at keeping a check on individuals with a history of criminal behavior.

During the interaction, DySP Muralidhar issued a clear warning to all those present, instructing them to strictly adhere to the law and maintain good conduct. He emphasized that any involvement in criminal activities would lead to immediate and stringent action. The officer also reminded them that their activities are being closely monitored by the police department.

Officials used the opportunity to verify the personal details, current occupation, and recent activities of the rowdy sheeters. This process helps the police track their movements and assess whether they are maintaining lawful behavior. Those who failed to provide satisfactory responses were cautioned and kept under stricter surveillance.

Police sources stated that such parades are crucial in deterring repeat offenses and instilling fear of legal consequences among habitual offenders. The presence of senior officers during the parade adds to its seriousness and sends a strong message that law enforcement agencies are vigilant.

The initiative also aims to reassure the public that the police are actively working to maintain peace and safety in the area. Residents of Shidlaghatta and surrounding villages have often raised concerns about anti-social activities, and such proactive measures are intended to address those issues effectively.

The police department reiterated that similar drives will continue in the future as part of a broader strategy to strengthen law enforcement and ensure a safe environment for citizens.

Traffic Police Inspect Ibbalur Junction to Ease the Peak Hour Congestion

BENGALURU

In a bid to address increasing traffic congestion during peak hours, officials from the Bellandur Traffic Police Station conducted an on-site inspection at Ibbalur Junction, one of the busy intersections in the city.

The inspection was carried out during peak traffic hours to assess the ground situation and identify measures to improve traffic flow. Ibbalur Junction, which falls under the jurisdiction of Bellandur Traffic Police, often experiences heavy vehicular movement due to its strategic connectivity to key areas of Bengaluru.

During the visit, police officials closely observed traffic patterns, vehicle density, and bottlenecks that contribute to congestion. They also interacted with on-duty traffic personnel to understand the challenges faced in managing the high volume of vehicles, especially during office hours.

Authorities stated that the purpose of the inspection was to evaluate existing traffic management strategies and explore ways to ensure smoother movement of vehicles. Measures such as better signal coordination, deployment of additional personnel, and improved lane discipline were discussed as possible solutions to reduce congestion.

Officials also emphasized the importance of public cooperation in maintaining smooth traffic flow.

SCHOOL TRANSPORT SAFETY

Special Drive Conducted to Check Drunk Driving

BENGALURU

In a proactive effort to enhance the safety of school children, the Traffic BTP carried out a special enforcement drive targeting school and college transport vehicles, with a key focus on identifying and preventing drunk driving. The drive was conducted as part of a dedicated safety initiative aimed at ensuring that drivers responsible for transporting students are fully alert and compliant with traffic regulations. During the operation, traffic police personnel stopped multiple school buses, vans, and private transport vehicles operating in the Vijayanagar area and subjected drivers to alcohol breath analyzer tests.

Officials stated that the primary objective of the drive was to prevent any untoward incidents involving children by strictly enforcing rules against driving under the influence of alcohol. Authorities emphasized that even a minor lapse in judgment can have serious consequences, particularly when young students are involved.

In addition to alcohol checks, police teams also inspected vehicle documents, including driving licenses, fitness certificates, permits, and insurance coverage. Vehicles found lacking proper documentation or safety compliance were warned, and in some cases, action was initiated as per traffic laws.

The initiative reflects the growing concern among authorities regarding the safety of school-going children, especially during daily commutes. With increasing traffic congestion and road risks in urban areas, ensuring that drivers are responsible and vehicles are roadworthy has become a critical priority.

Major Road Widening Project Announced for Padarayanapura

BENGALURU

In a significant infrastructure push, the Karnataka government has announced a major road widening project in Padarayanapura, located within the Chamarajpet Assembly constituency. The initiative aims to ease traffic congestion and improve connectivity in one of the city's busiest areas. According to official information, the main road in Padarayanapura will be widened from its current width of approximately 9 metres to 24 metres. The decision has been taken in response to increasing traffic pressure and the inconvenience faced by commuters due to heavy vehicular movement in the locality. Authorities believe that the widening project will significantly enhance traffic flow, reduce bottlenecks, and improve overall commuting conditions for residents and daily travelers. The move is also expected to positively impact economic activities in the area by facilitating smoother transportation of goods and services. In addition to the road widening, the government has allocated a total of ₹75 crore for the comprehensive development of three key constituencies—Chamarajpet, Gandhinagar, and Shivajinagar.

Eshwarappa questions communal debate, slams Cong strategy

Eshwarappa accused Congress of attempting to divide voters along religious lines and demanded legal action against Zameer Ahmed Khan

SHIVAMOGGA

Former Deputy Chief Minister K. S. Eshwarappa raised sharp questions on the issue of communal politics, asking whether speaking in support of Muslims is not also communal, just like supporting Hindus is often labeled.Addressing a press conference, he said showing unity among Hindus is frequently criticized, while similar actions for other communities are ignored. He questioned the alleged demand for political tickets based on community support in Davangere and called it unfair.Eshwarappa accused the Indian National Congress of trying to divide voters along religious lines ahead of the by-election scheduled on April 9 in Davangere South. He claimed such strategies aim to create tension among communities for electoral gain.He also demanded legal action against Zameer Ahmed Khan, alleging that his statements could disturb communal harmony. According to him, such remarks create unnecessary divisions in society.On another issue, Eshwarappa spoke about the proposed Sharavati Pumped Storage Project in the Western Ghats. He said several protests have already been held against the project due to environmental concerns. He appreciated B. Y. Raghavendra for stating that the Central Government has not yet approved the project.He urged leaders to take environmental experts to Delhi and discuss the matter further. He said many religious leaders, activists, and local groups have opposed the project, demanding its withdrawal.

The press meet saw the presence of community leaders and supporters, as discussions focused on both political and environmental concerns in the region.

The Deputy Commissioner urged stray dog control, prompt treatment for bites, highlighting rising dog, snake, and rat fever cases

SHELTERS PLANNED FOR STRAY DOGS ACROSS TALUKS

MANGALURU

In response to rising complaints about stray dogs, Deputy Commissioner Darshan H.V. announced that shelters for stray dogs will be set up in all taluks of the district. He made the statement during a meeting of the District Surveillance Committee of the Health Department on Friday.

The Deputy Commissioner said shelters are already being constructed in Mangaluru taluk. He added that local authorities should take measures such as birth control to manage stray dog populations in urban and rural areas. He also urged the public to seek immediate treatment in cases of dog bites, snake bites, or other emergencies, as prompt medical care can save lives.

District Surveyor Dr. Navinchandra shared alarming statistics: 27,481 dog bite cases were reported in 2025, including 21,673 from domestic dogs and 5,808 from strays. Over the last three years, two people died due to dog bites. Cases of rat fever and snake bites have also risen, with 365 snake bite cases in 2023 increasing to 752 in 2025, resulting in 10 deaths.

District Health Officer Dr. Thimmaiah highlighted that increased awareness has led to more timely treatment, improving patient outcomes.

The meeting, attended by Deputy Director of Animal Husbandry Arun Kumar Shetty, Joint Director of Agriculture Honnappa Gowda, and other officials, emphasized public safety, health preparedness, and proper care for both humans and animals.The administration's initiative aims to balance public safety with humane treatment of stray animals while improving overall health services in the district.

Give cylinder, enjoy free biryani for whole month

ANEKAL

A hotel in Hosur has come up with a unique offer that is going viral on social media. 'Erode Ammai Mess' is asking customers to provide commercial LPG cylinders, promising free biryani in return. The poster outside the hotel reads, "Help us cook, we will fill your stomach," attracting widespread attention.The hotel is facing difficulties due to a global fuel crisis caused by the ongoing Iran-Israel war, which has disrupted the supply of commercial gas cylinders and increased prices.

To manage this shortage and continue serving customers, the hotel introduced this innovative idea.

Under the offer, a customer providing one commercial LPG cylinder receives one plate of biryani free every day for a month.

Licenses cancelled for shops selling harmful products: Arun K

MANGALURU

District Superintendent of Police Dr. Arun K. has directed authorities to cancel licenses of shops and commercial establishments selling cigarettes, tobacco, or other narcotics near schools and colleges. He made the announcement during the District Level Narco Coordination Center Committee meeting at the District Collector's Office on Friday.

Dr. Arun emphasized that the School Education Department must verify all school SDMCs to ensure a safe, drug-free environment for students. He urged regular awareness programs in schools and colleges to educate students about the harmful effects of smoking and drugs.

Officials from various departments were instructed to conduct public awareness campaigns on narcotics and perform regular inspections in home stays, lodges, and industrial units. Coastal Security Police were asked to carry out surprise inspections on boats, while monitoring parcels in KSRTC buses was also highlighted. In addition, surveillance at railways and airports will be strengthened to curb drug-related activities.

District Health Officer Dr. Thimmaiah mentioned that a counseling center at District Wenlock Hospital is available to help children addicted to drugs, and parents can bring their children for treatment.Deputy Commissioner of Police Mithun, Assistant Conservator of Forests Shashikanth, and other officials were present at the meeting.

The initiative aims to protect students from exposure to drugs and smoking while promoting public health. Authorities said strict action and community cooperation are essential to maintain a safe and healthy environment around educational institutions.

No fuel shortage fear despite global tensions: Sasikala Nagaraj

MYSURU

The Mysore Petroleum Traders Association has assured the public that there is no shortage of petrol or diesel in the region, even if global conflicts continue for several months.

Association President Sasikala Nagaraj said that sufficient stock of fuel is available with major oil companies supplying Mysuru, Chamarajanagar and Mandya districts. She clarified that the supply system is functioning smoothly under the supervision of the Union Ministry of Petroleum and Natural Gas.

She explained that more than 300 petrol bunks in the region are receiving regular fuel supply. However, temporary confusion has been noticed in a few places due to sudden rise in demand and panic buying by consumers. In some cases, artificial shortages are also being created, adding to public concern.

Nagaraj urged people not to panic or hoard fuel unnecessarily. She noted that many consumers who usually purchase small quantities are now filling full tanks due to fear created by news and social media reports.

Addressing concerns about international tensions, she said that even if the ongoing conflict in the Middle East continues for up to six months, India will not face any fuel crisis. She pointed out that India maintains good relations with oil-producing countries like Iran and Russia, ensuring steady supply.

She also mentioned that the recent reduction in excise duty on petrol and diesel by the central government will provide some relief to consumers.Reassuring the public, Nagaraj said there is no need for worry, and fuel supply will remain stable in the coming months.

Philosophers inspire society progress says Gafoor at event

UDUPI

Gafoor highlighted Sri Agnibanniraya's teachings on truth, equality, and social justice, respected by the Thigal community, urging people to follow past reformers' ideals for meaningful lives

The teachings of great philosophers continue to guide society towards progress, said M. A. Gafoor during the Sri Agnibanniraya Jayanti program held at the Deputy Commissioner's office in Rajatadri, Manipal.

The event was organised jointly by the district administration, Zilla Panchayat, and Kannada and Culture Department. Gafoor said that philosophers like Sri Agnibanniraya have shown the path of truth, equality, and social justice. He added that their life values remain relevant even today and can help build a better society.

He noted that the Thigal community, known for its hard work, respects Agnibanniraya as a social reformer. He said many thinkers and reformers from past centuries worked to remove social inequalities and create harmony. People should follow such ideals to lead meaningful lives.

Cultural thinker Dr. Srikanth Siddhapura spoke about the historical and cultural background of Agnibanniraya. He said stories about him are found in folklore and traditions. He also highlighted the role of the Thigal community in agriculture and garden development, including their contribution to building Lalbagh Botanical Garden.

Project Director Subrahmanya said celebrating the birth anniversaries of great leaders helps inspire the younger generation. He urged youth to follow good values in daily life.

Officials, staff members, and community representatives attended the event. The program included floral tributes, speeches, and cultural reflections.

The event concluded with a message that adopting the ideals of great philosophers can help society move forward with unity, peace, and positive change for future generations.

Grand Durga Homa marks temple festival celebrations

SORAB

A grand religious event was held in Sorab town as part of the Brahmaratha dedication festival of Shri Lakshmi Ranganathaswamy temple. Devotees gathered in large numbers on Friday to witness special rituals performed with devotion and traditional practices.The event included Chaturveda Parayana, Rigveda chanting, and the powerful Durga Homa, followed by Purnahuti, Mahamangalarati, and distribution of Tirtha Prasad. Priests and Vedic scholars from different parts of the country participated in the rituals, making the event spiritually vibrant.

Speaking on the occasion, priest Ghanapathi Narayan Bhat explained the importance of Durga Homa. He said the ritual is believed to remove negative energy, destroy evil forces, and bring peace and prosperity. He added that Goddess Durga, in her various forms like Mahakali, Mahalakshmi, and Mahasaraswati, blesses devotees with strength, wealth, and wisdom.

He further said that performing the Homa with true devotion helps in overcoming obstacles in life and brings mental peace and family well-being. Devotees offered prayers seeking divine blessings and protection.Many public representatives and local leaders attended the event. Among them were former minister Kumara Bangarappa, Saraswati Prashantha Maestri, and several other dignitaries and committee members.

The temple premises were decorated beautifully, and arrangements were made for devotees to participate comfortably. The event created a spiritual atmosphere in the town, with chants and rituals filling the air.

The pooja concluded with distribution of prasadam, leaving devotees with a sense of peace and satisfaction. Organizers said such events help preserve cultural traditions and bring the community together in faith and devotion.

Mysore University struggles due to mismanagement problems: K.S. Rangappa

MYSURU

Retired Vice Chancellor K.S. Rangappa has raised serious concerns over the declining standards and financial condition of Mysore University, blaming administrative failures for the situation.

In a detailed statement, Rangappa alleged that the university is facing such a financial crunch that it does not even have funds to purchase basic cleaning materials like pine oil for maintaining toilets. He said this reflects poor management and lack of proper planning.

Responding to recent remarks by current Vice Chancellor Prof. Loknath, Rangappa clarified that the issue of autonomy at Yuvaraja College has no connection with any alleged misuse of funds. He expressed readiness for an open discussion to clarify the matter.

Rangappa also criticized the decision to reduce 50 percent of seats under a particular scheme, stating that it affects meritorious students from poor backgrounds. He further claimed that several courses in the university have been shut down due to falling student admissions.

He questioned the handling of a fund reportedly collected for retired staff, stating that there is no clarity on how the amount has been used.

EMPOWERED WOMEN SAFETY

Safe workplaces vital for women's mental health: Experts

MANGALURU

Creating a safe workplace is essential for women to perform effectively, experts said at a seminar held in Mangaluru on Friday. The event focused on the effects of sexual harassment at work on women's mental health and the P.E.S. Act 2013.

Karnataka Bank Chief Manager and Public Relations Officer Pallavi T.S. highlighted that many women face sexual harassment at work and suffer mental stress as they often cannot share their problems. She urged women to approach the Internal Complaints Committee (ICC) if they face harassment, assuring that complaints can be resolved without embarrassment.

Deputy Director of the Women and Child Development Department, Usman, presided over the seminar and stressed that sexual harassment has serious mental and physical effects. He called for the formation of ICCs in all offices to protect women from abuse. Usman explained that women experiencing obscene language, behavior, or physical misconduct can seek help from the ICC and have their issues addressed.

The seminar was sponsored by Karnataka Bank in collaboration with the Local Complaints Committee, Women and Child Development Department, Manashanti Counseling Center, and Lions Club Mangalore.

Lions Club President Rajesh Kamath, Local Complaints Committee President Dr. Ramila Shekhar, Merlin Martis, Dr. Arana Yadiyal from Father Muller Medical College, and Development Inspector Chandrika shared insights and guidance.

Speakers emphasized that women should not stay silent about harassment but confront it to safeguard their dignity, health, and right to a respectful workplace.

Hoax bomb threat creates panic at Kolar office

Police and bomb squad thoroughly searched the premises for two hours, found no explosives, and declared the area safe

KOLAR

Panic gripped the Regional Transport Office in Kolar on Friday after officials received an email claiming that bombs had been planted inside the premises. The alert was raised around noon, leading to immediate evacuation of staff and visitors from the building.

Police rushed to the spot and secured the area. A bomb detection and disposal squad conducted a detailed search of the entire premises. Every room, corner, and vehicle parked inside the compound, including buses seized for traffic violations, was thoroughly checked.

After nearly two hours of intensive inspection, officials confirmed that no explosives were found. The situation was declared safe, bringing relief to employees and the public present there.

The incident occurred on the auspicious occasion of Rama Navami, when many devotees had gathered at a nearby temple. Police ensured their safety by restricting movement near the office and maintaining distance from the premises.Security arrangements were tightened along the busy Kolar-KGF State Highway to manage traffic and avoid congestion during the operation.Kannika Sikrival said that the threat appeared to be a hoax after nothing suspicious was found during the search.Sources revealed that the email, received around 11.40 am, claimed that ten bombs had been planted in the office. The message also mentioned unrelated grievances and appeared to be misleading.

Officials recalled a similar hoax threat received at the Deputy Commissioner's office in December last year, raising concerns about repeated false alarms.Police are now investigating the source of the email and have assured strict action against those responsible for creating panic and disrupting public order.

Gardasil 4 vaccine protects against HPV types, available in government hospitals, excluding pregnancy, allergies, and age limits

Parents, teachers must understand HPV vaccine benefits: Venkatesh

CHITRADURGA

District Commissioner T. Venkatesh has directed officials to implement the HPV vaccination campaign effectively to protect girls from cervical cancer.

Speaking at a district-level task force meeting, he said awareness must be created among parents and teachers before giving the vaccine. He stressed that misconceptions about the vaccine should be cleared through proper information and communication.

The vaccine, which costs between ₹9,000 and ₹15,000 in private hospitals, is being provided free by the government. Officials were told to ensure all eligible girls take benefit of this opportunity. Strict action will be taken against those spreading false information, he warned.

District RCH Officer Dr. D. M. Abhinava said girls aged between 14 and 15 years have been identified as beneficiaries. Around 18,267 girls in the district are expected to be covered under the campaign.

The vaccine Gardasil 4 protects against four types of HPV virus. It will be available in government hospitals, including sub-centres, primary health centres, and the district hospital. The drive has already started and will continue for three months.

Officials said the vaccine will not be given to pregnant women, those with allergies, or those outside the age group. Medical staff, including doctors and nurses, are actively involved in the campaign.

Departments like education and women and child welfare have been asked to work together. Schools will hold meetings and appoint teachers to guide students and parents.

Authorities urged the public to cooperate and ensure the health and safety of young girls through timely vaccination.

Rare war elephant sculpture found in Vijayapura

VIJAYAPURA

A rare relief sculpture showing two enraged elephants locked in battle has been discovered in Gaudgere village, marking an important archaeological find. The discovery was made during a field study by the National Research Forum, said historian and Forum President Layappa Ingale. He noted that this is the first time such a unique sculpture has been found in the region. Experts believe the sculpture dates back to the Devagiri Yadava period, also known as the Seuna dynasty. It was carved on a fort structure in Gaudgere, once connected to their capital. The depiction of fighting elephants is thought to represent a powerful elephant corps and the strong defensive systems used to protect the capital.

Over two lakh devotees expected at Vairamudi festival

Over 1,200 police ensure temple safety, with fire engines, KSRTC buses, and organized parking for public convenience

MANDYA

Mandya district is all set to host the 2026 Sri Vairamudi Brahmotsava at the Melukote Cheluva Narayana Swamy Temple from March 23 to April 4, with the main crowning festival scheduled for March 28. District Collector Dr. Kumar said over two lakh devotees are expected to participate in the celebrations.

Addressing a press conference, Dr. Kumar said that more than 1,200 police personnel have been deployed to ensure the safety of devotees and maintain law and order. A special committee under the Additional Superintendent of Police has been formed to supervise security arrangements. Two fire engines and personnel are on standby for emergencies.

For the convenience of visitors, about 140 KSRTC buses will operate from major towns, with advance seat reservations and continuous services from Mandya city. Temporary parking has been arranged near the Zonal Forest Office, with five free mini buses transporting senior citizens, pregnant women, and the general public to the temple. Multiple parking areas have been organized for two-wheelers and four-wheelers at various locations.

Facilities for devotees include 52 temporary toilets, clean drinking water through tankers and taps, and 24×7 medical services with skilled doctors, ambulances, and treatment centers. Food safety is being monitored, and prasad will be distributed continuously from 8 am on March 28 to 8 am on March 29. Cleanliness is being maintained across the temple, roads, drains, and Kalyanis, and the use of plastic has been banned.

Security and monitoring are strengthened with 40 permanent CCTV cameras installed at key locations, with another 40 cameras planned. Cultural programs, special electric lighting, flower decorations, and the Theppotsava on April 1 are also part of the festival.

Dr. Kumar assured that live broadcasts on visual media and YouTube, along with large screens at crowded areas, will allow devotees to witness the rituals remotely. Zilla Panchayat CEO K. R. Nandini, Additional District Collector B. C. Shivananda Murthy, and senior officials from the Information and Public Relations Department were present at the press meet.

Steps urged to prevent summer drinking water crisis

KARWAR

District In-charge Secretary and Zilla Panchayat Administrative Officer Sushma Godabole has directed officials to take advance measures to prevent drinking water shortages in rural areas during the summer season.

Chairing a general meeting at the Zilla Panchayat hall, she instructed officers to prepare a list of villages likely to face water scarcity and ensure alternative arrangements, including the use of private borewells. She emphasized that permission for drilling new borewells should be given only if proper groundwater recharge systems are in place.

She also asked the Horticulture Department to address issues related to faulty rain gauge machines and ensure farmers receive crop insurance benefits without delay.

Focusing on education, she directed officials to support students who failed the SSLC examination in Mundagod and help them appear for the second exam with proper guidance.

Officials informed the meeting that there are no issues in the mid-day meal scheme despite concerns about gas supply, and accommodation has been arranged for literacy staff.

Godabole stressed the need to complete pending construction works of health centres and Anganwadis within the deadline.

She also called for procurement of quality medical equipment and better infrastructure in student hostels.

She further instructed departments to complete Jal Jeevan Mission works and prioritize groundwater recharge. Mapping of water storage structures across departments was also advised.

Uttara Kannada fights drugs with strong measures

KARWAR

Since 2023, police registered 562 drug cases, arrested 746 people, seizing ganja, charas, and MDAAA, revealing high youth involvement in drug offenses.

The Uttara Kannada district administration has launched a determined campaign to curb drug use, supply, and transportation across the district, aiming to make it drug-free. Authorities are conducting strict inspections, awareness programs, and community outreach to tackle this growing problem.

Since 2023, police and enforcement agencies have registered 106 cases of drug transportation, resulting in 169 arrests. Seized drugs include 75.534 kg of ganja, 3.429 kg of charas, and 1.8 grams of MDAAA, with a total value of nearly Rs. 49 lakh. In addition, 577 people have been arrested in 456 cases of drug consumption, sending a strong message to users and suppliers alike.

Of the 746 individuals caught for drug-related offenses between January 2025 and February 2026, 593 were aged 18–30, and 107 were aged 31–40, highlighting the alarming involvement of the youth.

To educate the public and students about the dangers of drugs, authorities have organized 1,515 awareness programs, visiting 1,005 schools and colleges and interacting with nearly 50,000 students. Another 527 programs reached the general public, while more than 1,500 people participated in 5 km and 10 km marathons promoting a drug-free message.

All colleges, high schools, and pre-university institutions are included in ongoing awareness campaigns, coordinated by the Health Department. Daily monitoring is carried out by key departments, including Police, Excise, Forest, Agriculture, Fisheries, Railways, Port, Postal, and Revenue, with regular ENCORD meetings ensuring strict enforcement. Suspicious parcels and foreign vessels arriving at Karwar port are also thoroughly checked.

Over the last three years, authorities have destroyed 93.96 kg of seized ganja worth over Rs. 39 lakh. Officers have undergone training under the NDPS Act, and government guidelines on prevention, surveillance, awareness, and enforcement are being strictly implemented.

Deputy Commissioner K. Lakshmi Priya emphasized that the district's sustained efforts, community involvement, and strict inter-departmental coordination aim to make Uttara Kannada a safe and narcotics-free district for all.

Vocational fair guides students toward bright futures

MANDYA

A large vocational education exhibition and career fair was successfully held at St. Joseph's Teachers' College, Mandya. The event was jointly organized by the District Education and Training Institute (DIET) Mandya and the District Vocational and Career Guidance Unit under the guidance of Samagra Shikshan Karnataka, Office of the Director of State Planning. The program was inaugurated by Chief Executive Officer K.R. Nandini, who highlighted the importance of proper guidance in helping students and youth choose their future careers. She noted that many students struggle to identify the right path due to limited awareness of their interests, abilities, and opportunities.

The fair offered detailed information about higher education, professional courses, skill development programs, technical training, self-employment opportunities, and competitive exams such as CET, JEE, and NEET. Special focus was also given to students with special needs and government school students seeking educational support. Around 2,500 students, parents, teachers, and officials from across the district participated, visiting over 20 exhibition stalls set up by different departments. Speakers at the event emphasized goal clarity, hard work, and utilizing available resources to succeed in life.

Stagnant drain water worries Hunsur residents

HUNSUR

Residents of Manjunatha Barangay in Hunsur city are facing health risks due to stagnant underground drainage (UGD) water that has remained uncleaned for over a month. The blocked drains are overflowing, spreading dirty water across roads and creating breeding grounds for mosquitoes.

People living nearby are worried about mosquito-borne diseases and fear for their health. Many have reported the issue to city council officials, but no effective action has been taken so far.

Although the city council is conducting cleanliness campaigns, officials' inaction on such critical drainage problems is increasing the risk of waterlogging and public health hazards.

Hunsur, Piriyapatna praised for effective waste management efforts

HUNSUR

Hunsur and Piriyapatna taluks in Mysuru district have been appreciated for their effective management of solid and liquid waste, with officials urging them to become model regions for others to follow. Zilla Panchayat Deputy Secretary (Development) Bhimappa K. Lali spoke at the "Swachh Shakti Samman" award ceremony held at Ambedkar Bhavan. The event was organized under the Swachh Bharat Abhiyan in collaboration with Zilla Panchayat Mysuru, Taluk Panchayats of Hunsur and Piriyapatna, ITC, Outreach and MyCaps.

He highlighted the important role played by ITC in conducting awareness activities and said women from Sanjeevini groups are doing commendable work in separating wet and dry waste. He expressed confidence that more women would join such initiatives in the future.

MyCaps Executive Director Ashrapul Hasan stressed the need for greater awareness about cleanliness, noting that despite many programs, progress is slow. He said neglecting cleanliness can directly affect human health and urged people to take responsibility.

ITC Program Officer Manoj M. said people must change the habit of throwing waste carelessly and treat cleanliness as everyone's duty. Taluk Panchayat Executive Officer Hongaiah K., who presided over the function, said waste management is a dignified task and should be carried out with dedication using modern methods.

Under the awards, Bannikuppe Gram Panchayat secured first place, followed by another village in second place, and Karimuddanahalli in third.

CONSUMER SAFETY CONCERN

ACTION SOUGHT AGAINST ILLEGAL SLAUGHTER OF SICK LAMBS

HUNSUR

Karnataka Rakshana Vedike leaders have demanded strict action against slaughterhouses in the city for allegedly slaughtering sick lambs without proper health checks, raising serious concerns over public safety.

District President Purushottam submitted a petition to Chief Veterinary Officer (Administration) Dr. Channabasappa, urging immediate steps to stop the illegal practice.

He said that several slaughterhouses are reportedly bringing sick or dying sheep at low prices and slaughtering them without medical inspection, which could pose health risks to consumers.

Speaking to reporters, Purushottam alleged that despite clear rules, veterinary checks are being ignored. He stressed that animals brought for slaughter must be examined and certified healthy by veterinary doctors before being processed for food. He also criticized officials for negligence, claiming that such actions are allowing unsafe meat to enter the market.

He warned that if authorities fail to act, the organization will launch protests in front of concerned offices. He also demanded strict legal action against those involved in slaughtering and selling meat without proper health certification.

Responding to the allegations, Dr. Channabasappa acknowledged receiving the complaint and said instructions have already been issued. He stated that veterinary staff and city council health inspectors have been directed to inspect slaughterhouses regularly, especially in the morning hours.

He emphasized that only healthy sheep and goats should be allowed for slaughter after proper medical verification.

Officials assured that monitoring will be strengthened to ensure compliance with rules and protect public health.

Delhi Assembly Revives PAC Reports After Fifteen Years Gap

Intro: Speaker praised PAC's role, Rekha Gupta government support, timely reports, and directed departments to act promptly

NEW DELHI

Delhi Assembly Speaker Vijender Gupta on Friday welcomed the adoption of Public Accounts Committee (PAC) reports by the House after a long gap of over 15 years. He criticised the previous Aam Aadmi Party government, stating that it failed to present Comptroller and Auditor General (CAG) reports in the Assembly, which made the PAC inactive for years.

Gupta said that not a single PAC report was tabled during that period, affecting financial oversight. He added that all pending CAG reports have now been placed before the House and sent to the PAC and the Committee on Government Undertakings for review.

Highlighting the role of the PAC, the Speaker said it is an important body that ensures transparency and checks misuse of public funds. He expressed satisfaction that the committee has now started functioning effectively again.

He also praised the government led by Chief Minister Rekha Gupta for supporting this process. According to him, the PAC has submitted three reports within one year, focusing on key sectors such as health, excise, and vehicular pollution.

Gupta appreciated the committee members for their work and said their recommendations are detailed and practical. He noted that several government departments have already started taking corrective steps based on these findings.

The Speaker further directed all concerned departments to submit Action Taken Notes (ATNs) within the given timeline. He also instructed the Assembly Secretariat to send the reports quickly to ensure timely action.He said this step will strengthen accountability and improve governance in Delhi.

JAN VISHWAS BILL INTRODUCED IN LOK SABHA

The government introduced a bill to decriminalise minor offences, aiming to boost ease of doing business and improve governance

NEW DELHI

The government on Friday introduced the Jan Vishwas (Amendment of Provisions) Bill, 2026 in the Lok Sabha to decriminalise minor offences and improve ease of doing business and living. The bill was presented by Minister of State for Commerce and Industry Jitin Prasada after including suggestions from a select committee.

The bill aims to reduce legal burden by removing criminal penalties for small violations and replacing them with fines and administrative actions. It proposes changes in 79 central laws, covering 784 provisions. Out of these, 717 provisions are set to be decriminalised, while 67 are aimed at improving ease of living.

However, some opposition leaders raised concerns over the bill. Congress members K Kavya and GK Padavi opposed its introduction, saying it could affect the basic structure of the Constitution. Padavi also called the bill arbitrary and warned that it may encourage corruption. He urged the government to send it again to a select committee or a joint parliamentary committee for further review.

Responding to the criticism, Prasada said that wide consultations were held before finalising the bill. He clarified that only minor offences are being decriminalised and the aim is to promote trust-based governance. He added that the bill also proposes setting up appellate authorities and revising penalties to make them fair and proportionate.

The bill was earlier withdrawn on March 17 for revision after committee recommendations. It builds on the earlier 2023 law introduced by Commerce Minister Piyush Goyal, which decriminalised 183 provisions across 42 central laws.

Mamata Criticises Excise Cuts Using Saree Analogy

KOLKATA

West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee on Friday criticised the Centre's recent decision to reduce excise duty on petrol and diesel, likening it to bargaining in a saree store.

"If you ask the price of a saree, he may say Rs 1,000, but after bargaining, he agrees to Rs 400. Similarly, prices of gas have increased, and even if the excise duty is cut now, where will the price actually stop?" she questioned.

Expressing concern over the LPG crisis, Mamata demanded that gas cylinders from Haldia should not be sent outside West Bengal. She also called for administrative reforms across departments, from police officers to block development officers, to prevent public inconvenience despite sufficient local fuel supplies.

Meanwhile, Union Ministers Piyush Goyal and Nitin Gadkari praised the excise duty cut, calling it a citizen-focused initiative amid global fuel price surges caused by the West Asia conflict. Gadkari said the step reflects the government's strong commitment to public welfare and comes at a time when several countries are increasing fuel prices.

The Central government reduced excise duty on petrol to Rs 3 per litre and made diesel duty-free, along with imposing a windfall tax of Rs 21.5 per litre on diesel exports. The move comes amid rising tensions in West Asia, especially the US-Israel-Iran conflict, which has blocked the Strait of Hormuz, a vital route handling nearly one-fifth of global crude oil.

The Ministry of Petroleum and Natural Gas assured citizens that fuel supplies remain stable, retail outlets are functioning normally, and adequate stocks of petrol and diesel are available nationwide, urging people to avoid panic buying.

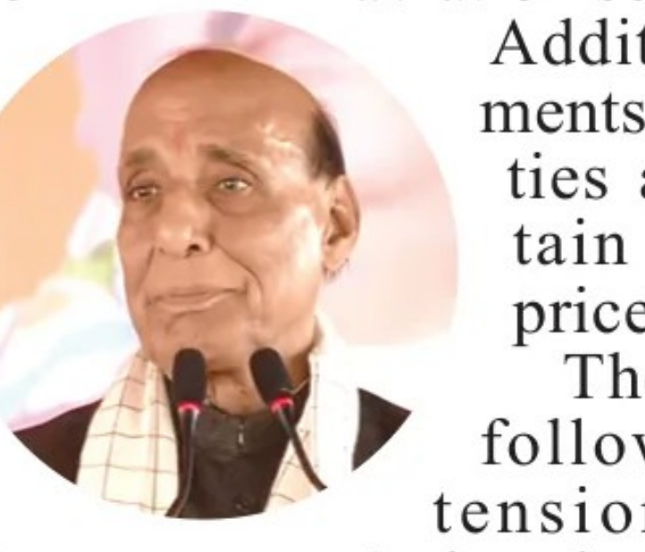
RAJNATH SINGH TO LEAD MIDDLE EAST MONITORING GROUP

NEW DELHI

The government has set up an Inter-Ministerial Group to closely monitor developments stemming from the ongoing Middle East conflict, with Defence Minister Rajnath Singh appointed as its head. Key members of the group include Union Home Minister Amit Shah, Union Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman, and Union Petroleum Minister Hardeep Singh Puri, along with other ministers, sources said.

The announcement comes amid urgent steps to stabilise fuel prices and energy supplies.

Earlier, the government reduced excise duties on petrol to Rs 3 per litre and zeroed diesel excise. A windfall tax of Rs 21.5 per litre was imposed on diesel exports.



Taxes on Aviation Turbine Fuel (ATF) were revised, introducing a special excise duty of Rs 50 per litre. Exemptions limit the effective rate to Rs 29.5 per litre, easing pressure on the aviation sector.

Additional adjustments to excise duties aim to maintain overall fuel price stability.

These measures follow escalating tensions in West Asia, including the US-Israel conflict with Iran, which led to a Tehran-imposed blockade of the Strait of Hormuz.

This route handles nearly a fifth of the world's crude oil and gas, between 20 and 25 million barrels daily.

Before the crisis, India sourced about 12–15% of its oil through this corridor.

The Petroleum Ministry assured stable fuel supplies and normal operations at retail outlets, urging citizens against panic buying. Meanwhile, the Israel Defence Forces struck Iran's missile facility in Yazd. Rajnath Singh's Inter-Ministerial Group will monitor the situation and advise measures to safeguard India's energy security and economic stability.

Kerala election campaigns showcase a unique mix of traditional wall art and modern technology

Kerala Poll Campaign Blends Tradition with Modern Technology

KOCHI

As Kerala gears up for Assembly elections, campaigning reflects a blend of old traditions and new innovations. A scene from the 1980 Malayalam film Mela, showing a wall message supporting A. K. Saseendran, has gone viral, reminding people of earlier campaign styles. Saseendran, now 80, is again contesting from Elathur, bringing back memories of his simple yet effective wall-painting campaigns.

Across the state, colourful wall writings and graffiti continue to grab attention. However, artists say their numbers are declining despite high demand during elections. Shaji, a graffiti artist from Kochi, said only a handful of skilled painters remain in key areas like Ernakulam. He added that artists handle hundreds of wall writings each election but now face tight schedules due to shorter campaign periods.

The issue gained attention after Congress candidate Ramesh Pisharody used a robot to paint a wall in Palakkad. The machine, called "Chuvarbot," can quickly create designs, but artists believe it cannot replace human creativity. They say machines follow fixed patterns, while artists adjust designs based on wall size and style.

Experienced artist Ayyappankutty said the profession has seen fewer newcomers over the years, partly due to the rise of flex banners. Still, artists are adapting by creating 3D designs and portraits to stay relevant.

Jairam Ramesh Questions Timing Of Fuel Duty

NEW DELHI : Congress leader Jairam Ramesh on Friday questioned the timing of the Central government's recent excise duty cuts on petrol and diesel, suggesting the move was politically motivated ahead of upcoming Assembly elections. In a post on X, he noted that during the past 12 years, when global crude oil prices fell on seven occasions, the government did not reduce consumer fuel prices. "Today's announcement was because of Assembly elections. Wait till April 30th," he wrote. The comments follow the government's decision to cut excise duty on petrol to ₹3 per litre and bring it to zero for diesel, under the Central Excise Act, 1944. A windfall tax of ₹21.5 per litre was also imposed on diesel exports.

Gadkari Praises Excise Duty Cut on Petrol and Diesel

NEW DELHI : Union Minister Nitin Gadkari on Friday praised the Centre's decision to reduce excise duty on petrol and diesel, calling it a citizen-focused step demonstrating strong public welfare commitment. He highlighted that amid rising global fuel prices caused by the West Asia conflict, the duty reduction will provide relief to households and businesses.The government reduced excise duty on petrol by Rs 3 per litre and brought diesel duty to zero. A windfall tax of Rs 21.5 per litre has also been imposed on diesel exports. Gadkari said the move shows governance aimed at cushioning citizens from global economic shocks, contrasting with other countries that continue raising fuel prices.

Live-in With Married Man Not Illegal: High Court

PRAYAGRAJ

The Allahabad High Court has said that a married man living in a live-in relationship with an adult woman, with mutual consent, is not an offence. Hearing a plea from a couple seeking protection from threats by the woman's family, the court said law cannot be guided by social morality. The bench of Justice J J Munir and Justice Tarun Saxena noted the woman was living by choice and raised concerns over police inaction despite threats.

Panel Flags Major Aviation Safety Concerns

NEW DELHI

A parliamentary panel has raised serious concerns about aviation safety in India, noting that nearly 50 per cent of aircraft inspected had recurring technical defects. The Standing Committee on Civil Aviation found 377 out of 754 aircraft showed repeated issues between January 2025 and February 2026. IndiGo had the highest number of cases, while Air India and Air India Express also reported significant defects, prompting calls for urgent safety reforms.

Nitish Kumar Likely To Quit Bihar Council Seat

PATNA

Nitish Kumar is expected to resign from the Bihar Legislative Council on March 30 after being elected to the Rajya Sabha, sources said. As per constitutional rules, a person cannot hold membership in two Houses at the same time and must give up one seat within 14 days. Kumar, who won the Rajya Sabha election on March 16, is likely to submit his resignation once the Bihar Assembly and Legislative Council sessions resume on March 30. Both Houses are currently in recess until March 29, and officials indicated that the decision to step down from the Council is almost final.

A veteran leader and the longest-serving Chief Minister of Bihar, Kumar was among candidates elected during recent polls held for 11 seats across Bihar, Odisha and Haryana. The remaining seats were filled without contest.After his victory, Kumar thanked the people of Bihar for their continued support over the past two decades. He said their trust had allowed him to serve the state with commitment and contribute to its progress and reputation.

US Highlights Trump Praise For Modi Amid Tensions

US embassy spotlights Donald Trump praise for Narendra Modi, boosting bilateral ties

NEW DELHI

US embassy shares Trump's remarks praising Modi, signalling stronger India-US ties amid rising West Asia tensions.The United States Embassy in India on Friday highlighted comments by Donald Trump praising Narendra Modi as a leader who "gets things done," expressing optimism about future bilateral ties. The post gained attention due to its timing, as tensions continue to rise in West Asia.

In the message, Trump described the India-US relationship as strong and said it would grow even stronger. He noted that both he and Modi are leaders focused on delivering results, adding that such effectiveness is rare among global leaders. The remarks came shortly after a phone call between the two leaders earlier this week.During the conversation, both leaders discussed the ongoing conflict involving Iran, which has created instability in the region. After the call, Modi reiterated India's position, stressing the need for peace and de-escalation. He highlighted the importance of keeping the Strait of Hormuz open and secure, calling it vital for global trade and energy supplies.

Narendra Modi shared details of the discussion on social media, saying both sides agreed to remain in close contact and work towards restoring stability. He stressed that smooth and uninterrupted shipping through the Strait of Hormuz is vital for the global economy.The situation has worsened after recent military actions by the United States and Israel, which led to strong retaliation from Iran. These developments have caused global concern, especially affecting oil prices and markets.

Despite tensions, Donald Trump and Modi highlighted continued cooperation. Their partnership has grown across trade, defence and strategic sectors, showing a strong and result-oriented relationship.

US-India ties gain momentum as key leaders meet and reaffirm cooperation across diplomacy, defence, and strategy

US Reaffirms Strong India Ties Amid Key Diplomatic Meetings

NEW DELHI

Taranjit Singh Sandhu recently met Sergio Gor, highlighting the stable and growing relationship between India and the United States. The meeting comes at a time when both nations continue to engage regularly through high-level discussions across multiple sectors, including diplomacy, trade, and defence.

Sandhu described the meeting as friendly and productive, reflecting his long-standing association with US officials. Earlier, Gor had extended his congratulations to Sandhu on taking oath as Delhi's Lieutenant Governor, succeeding Vinai Kumar Saxena. With over three decades of diplomatic experience, Sandhu served as India's Ambassador to the United States from 2020 to 2024 and played a key role in strengthening ties between the two countries.

The United States Embassy in India also reinforced the strength of bilateral relations by sharing remarks from Donald Trump. In his message, Trump praised Narendra Modi and expressed confidence that cooperation between the two nations would continue to grow, highlighting their focus on delivering results and achieving shared goals.

Meanwhile, defence cooperation has also seen notable progress. Elbridge Colby visited India and held key discussions with S Jaishankar and Vikram Misri. He also co-chaired an important Defence Policy Group meeting with Rajesh Kumar Singh, focusing on strengthening strategic cooperation.

The talks were centred on advancing the 2026 National Defence Strategy and deepening the India-US Major Defence Partnership, a framework earlier signed by Pete Hegseth and Rajnath Singh in October 2025.

These ongoing diplomatic and defence engagements clearly show a deepening, practical, and result-driven partnership between India and the United States.

Twelve Arrested In Multi-State Operation Over Terror Links

NEW DELHI

|Twelve individuals suspected of having links with banned terror groups have been arrested in a joint operation across several states, officials said. The accused were allegedly connected to outfits like ISIS and Al-Qaeda in the Indian Subcontinent.

The arrests were made from Andhra Pradesh, Bihar, Delhi, West Bengal, Rajasthan, Karnataka, Maharashtra, and Telangana in a coordinated effort led by police teams from Andhra Pradesh and Delhi. Investigations revealed that the accused had reportedly contacted foreign handlers through a gaming application and later became part of an online network linked to extremist activities.Officials said the group was associated with a network identified as "Benex Com," believed to have links with ISIS. The accused allegedly shared anti-national content on social media, including posts supporting terror outfits, insulting national symbols, and spreading extremist views.

Pakistan Mediates Iran Crisis, Battles Afghanistan Simultaneously

NEW DELHI

Pakistan pushes mediation in the US-Iran conflict while continuing intense military actions against Afghanistan, raising questions over its credibility and strategic priorities

Pakistan is attempting to position itself as a mediator in the ongoing tensions between the United States and Iran, even as its conflict with Afghanistan continues. Reports indicate that Islamabad is facilitating indirect talks between Washington and Tehran to prevent further escalation in the region.Donald Trump recently announced a brief pause in strikes on Iran's energy sites, calling the backchannel efforts "productive." Pakistan, along with Turkiye and Egypt, is said to be playing a role in these diplomatic exchanges. Islamabad has also offered to host direct talks between senior officials from both countries.Pakistan Army Chief Asim Munir and Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif are reportedly leading this effort, using ties with regional allies to boost Pakistan's role. Analysts say the move is aimed at improving the country's global image and gaining economic and political leverage.However, Pakistan's actions in Afghanistan present a contrasting picture. It has declared an "open war" on Kabul, carrying out airstrikes in multiple cities, including the capital. Hundreds have reportedly been killed in recent weeks, including civilians in a bombing of a drug rehabilitation centre.

The conflict is rooted in disputes over the Durand Line border and mutual accusations of supporting militant groups. Despite earlier ceasefire attempts mediated by Qatar and Turkiye, violence has resumed.

Experts warn that Pakistan's dual approach—seeking peace abroad while escalating conflict next door—may weaken its credibility. While successful mediation could bring economic benefits and global support, failure risks further isolation and instability for Islamabad.

Kerala to Introduce Karnataka-Style Guarantee Scheme: Jameer Ahmad Khan

CALICUT

Minister Jameer Ahmad Khan announced that if Congress comes to power in Kerala, the state will launch a guarantee scheme modeled on Karnataka's successful programs.

During his election campaign, the minister addressed a public meeting supporting UDF candidate P.V. Anwar from the Beypore Assembly constituency. He outlined key welfare initiatives, including free bus travel for women, a monthly ₹1,000 allowance for girl children, ₹25 lakh insurance per family, a ₹2,000 monthly pension for senior citizens, and interest-free skill development loans up to ₹5 lakh. Jameer Ahmad Khan highlighted that Congress leader Rahul Gandhi had already announced these schemes for Kerala and urged voters to back the party to implement them.

He criticized the LDF, saying they claimed such schemes were impossible to execute, similar to opposition remarks in Karnataka. However, Karnataka successfully implemented the programs under Congress. He added that the previous government's ten-year tenure had produced no major achievements.

After the meeting, Jameer Ahmad Khan led a roadshow supporting Congress candidate Vidya Balakrishnan in the Yelattur constituency.

Earlier, the minister also paid respects to E P Ustad at Markaz in Calicut during the campaign. The event was attended by Maulana Shafi Saadi and former Wakf Board president Anwar Basha.

Adani Ports Launches India's First Port of Refuge

AHMEDABAD

Adani Ports and Special Economic Zone Ltd has operationalised India's first Port of Refuge (PoR), aiming to strengthen maritime safety and emergency response systems. The initiative fills a long-standing gap by creating a structured mechanism to assist ships in distress.

The project is supported by a tripartite agreement with SMIT Salvage, part of Royal Boskalis Westminster NV, and the Maritime Emergency Response Centre, ensuring coordinated global expertise in handling emergencies.

A Port of Refuge, as defined by the International Maritime Organization, is a designated place where vessels facing danger can seek shelter to protect lives and reduce environmental damage. While common globally, India had not formalised such a system until now.

APSEZ will establish two PoR sites—Dighi Port on the west coast and Gopalpur Port on the east coast. These locations will support key routes across the Arabian Sea, the Persian Gulf, the Bay of Bengal, and the Malacca Strait.

The facilities will provide services such as salvage operations, firefighting, pollution control, and emergency coordination using specialised equipment and trained teams.

APSEZ CEO Ashwani Gupta said the initiative marks a major step in improving India's maritime safety framework. Officials, including Shyam Jagannathan, highlighted that the move aligns with global standards and will enhance protection of life, cargo, and the environment.

Mehbooba Criticises Omar Abdullah Over Delay In Iran Statement

SRINAGAR

Mehbooba Mufti on Friday strongly criticised Omar Abdullah for taking nearly a month to clearly condemn Israel's attack on Iran, describing the delay as "disheartening" and disappointing.

Addressing the Assembly, Abdullah termed the conflict an "unjust and illegal war" and called for immediate steps to restore peace in the region. He urged Narendra Modi to use India's diplomatic influence to help end the war in the interest of humanity. He also expressed condolences over the loss of lives, including that of Ayatollah Ali Khamenei, along with others affected in the conflict.

Reacting to his remarks, Mehbooba Mufti said it was disappointing that the Chief Minister took so long to make a clear and strong statement. In a post on social media, she questioned the delay and criticised the government for not showing urgency on an important international issue.

She further pointed out that the Punjab Legislative Assembly had acted quickly by passing a resolution.

FOREIGN CASH FOUND

Foreign Currency Found In Temple Donation Boxes

DEOGHAR

Authorities discovered foreign currencies, including Pakistani notes, in donation boxes at the Baba Baidyanath Temple during a routine counting exercise, officials said. This marks the first instance of Pakistani currency being found among temple offerings, making it an unusual development.

During the process, officials counted more than Rs 32 lakh in Indian currency. In addition, the collection included over 9,000 Nepalese rupees, 11 US dollars, 100 Pakistani rupees, and 20 euros. Naman Priyesh Lakra confirmed the findings and stated that all the donations were being carefully checked and recorded.

The temple authorities opened a total of 18 donation boxes under tight security arrangements and official supervision. After the initial collection, the entire amount, including Rs 32,14,245 in Indian currency, was shifted to an administrative office where detailed counting and documentation were carried out.

The Baidyanath Dham holds great religious importance as it is one of the twelve Jyotirlingas dedicated to Lord Shiva. It is also recognised as a Shakti Peetha, drawing thousands of devotees from across India and abroad throughout the year.

Devotees usually make offerings anonymously by dropping money into donation boxes placed across the temple premises. Officials believe the presence of foreign currencies could be due to contributions from international visitors.

As per Hindu belief, the temple is associated with the legend of Ravana, who is believed to have placed the Shiva linga here during his journey to Lanka, adding to its spiritual significance.

Derailments Raise Safety Concerns Over Pakistan Railways

Lahore

A series of train derailments has raised serious concerns about safety in Pakistan Railways despite a recent rise in revenue during Eid. Just a day after the festival, the Karachi-bound Tezgam Express derailed in Punjab, injuring several passengers. Commuters expressed frustration over repeated accidents and lack of lasting solutions. Another incident involving the Shalimar Express added to worries. Experts point to outdated tracks and signalling systems as key issues. With fares also rising, passengers are demanding urgent safety improvements.

Violence Triggers Mass Displacement In North Waziristan

North Waziristan

Rising violence in Shewa tehsil has forced entire communities to flee, creating a serious humanitarian crisis. Villages like Darozanda, Alamkhel, Malokhel, and Anarkhel have been deserted, with residents moving to safer districts. Locals blame targeted killings and militant activity for the sudden decline in security. Daily life has collapsed, with schools shut and markets closed. Women and children are the worst affected, leaving homes with few belongings. Residents are demanding urgent action to restore peace and ensure safe resettlement.

Israel Strikes Iran Missile Facility amid Rising Tensions

Despite renewed peace signals, tensions between Israel and Iran continue rising with fresh strikes

JERUSALEM

The Israel Defence Forces stated that it carried out a strike on a major Iranian missile production facility in Yazd, focusing on infrastructure linked to the development and storage of advanced weapons. The site was reportedly used to support missile launches from submarines, helicopters, and cruise platforms targeting maritime locations.

According to the IDF, its Air Force also launched operations across Tehran and parts of western Iran, concentrating on ballistic missile production units. Acting on military intelligence, overnight strikes targeted missile launchers and storage facilities seen as potential threats to Israel's security.

In separate operations, nearly 20 fighter jet sorties were conducted over regions including Kermanshah and Dezful. Around 70 munitions were used to hit missile systems and air defence installations. The IDF added that personnel associated with these sites were also neutralised during the attacks.

At the same time, the Islamic Revolutionary Guard Corps announced a fresh phase of its campaign, Operation True Promise 4, targeting US and Israeli-linked assets such as military bases and oil facilities. The IDF also reported detecting new ballistic missile launches from Iran following a short pause.

IDF Targets Iranian Naval Missile Production Site At Yazd

TEL AVIV

The Israel Defence Forces said it targeted a major Iranian facility in Yazd used for producing naval missiles and sea mines. According to the IDF, the site handled planning, development, assembly, and storage of advanced weapons meant for maritime attacks.

Guided by intelligence and naval units, the strike was described as a major blow to Iran's naval capabilities.

Iran has not officially confirmed the attack.

The IDF also reported overnight strikes across Tehran and western Iran, hitting missile launchers, storage sites, and air defence systems. Meanwhile, the Islamic Revolutionary Guard Corps announced a fresh wave of missile and drone attacks under Operation True Promise 4. Explosions were reported in parts of the Gulf region, while the United States is considering deploying more troops.

Controversy Over Gita Recitation At Bangladesh Event

DHAKA

A controversy erupted during Bangladesh's Independence Day event after a directive allegedly sought to stop recitation from the Shrimad Bhagavad Gita. The instruction was reportedly linked to MP Professor Mujibur Rahman during a state function in Tanore. The Bangladesh National Hindu Grand Alliance strongly protested, calling it discriminatory. However, officials later ensured that the traditional multi-faith recitations, including the Gita, were conducted. The organisation has demanded accountability and clarification from authorities over the incident.

Pakistan criticised at United Nations Human Rights Council over alleged human rights violations in Balochistan

Iran Vows Continued Defence Amid UN War Crime Allegations

GENEVA

Iran's Foreign Minister Seyyed Abbas Araghchi strongly criticised the United States and Israel over recent strikes on civilian sites, calling them serious violations of international law.

Addressing a debate at the United Nations, Araghchi highlighted a deadly attack on a girls' school in Minab that reportedly killed more than 160 people. He described the strike as a deliberate act and termed it a war crime, urging global action against those responsible.

He warned that silence from the international community would only encourage further violence and weaken global peace efforts. According to him, the principles of the United Nations and the broader human rights framework are at risk if such incidents go unchecked.

Araghchi stressed that Iran does not seek conflict but will continue to defend itself for as long as necessary. He said the country remains determined to respond to what he described as ongoing aggression.

He also pointed to widespread damage to civilian infrastructure, including hospitals, schools, water facilities, and residential areas. Over 600 schools have reportedly been damaged, with many students and teachers affected. Calling the attacks unjust, he urged nations to hold those responsible accountable. His remarks come as tensions remain high, with continued strikes despite recent signals of possible de-escalation.

Baloch human rights activist Fateh Baloch raised concerns at the United Nations Human Rights Council over worsening conditions in Balochistan. He accused Pakistani authorities of using collective punishment, arbitrary detentions, and surveillance to suppress dissent. He alleged that security operations, home demolitions, and enforced disappearances have created fear, disrupted livelihoods, and affected families. The activist urged global intervention, calling for investigations, accountability, and protection of basic human rights.

UAE Signals Support For Force To Reopen Hormuz Strait

UNITED NATIONS

The United Arab Emirates has expressed willingness to join an international force aimed at reopening the Strait of Hormuz amid rising regional tensions. The UAE has informed the United States and Western allies that it is ready to participate in a multinational maritime taskforce. The proposed "Hormuz Security Force" aims to protect shipping routes and counter threats from Iran.

The strategic waterway, which carries nearly 20 per cent of global oil and liquefied natural gas supplies, has been severely disrupted due to ongoing conflict. This has led to rising energy prices and concerns over global inflation.

The UAE is also working with Bahrain to push for a resolution at the United Nations Security Council to provide legal backing for such a force. However, opposition from countries like Russia and China could pose challenges. While some allies remain hesitant to commit military support, France has held discussions with several nations on a possible mission, likely after the ongoing conflict ends.

The Strait of Hormuz remains vital for global trade and energy supply, especially for the UAE, a major oil exporter and regional trade hub.

IRGC Warns West Asia Amid Rising Regional Tensions

TEHRAN

Iran's Islamic Revolutionary Guard Corps has issued a warning to people across West Asia, advising them to stay away from areas hosting US forces amid escalating tensions.

The IRGC accused American and Israeli forces of using civilians as shields and said it would continue targeting them. It urged residents near US military bases to leave immediately to avoid harm.

The warning comes as the IRGC announced a new phase of attacks under Operation True Promise 4, targeting key US and Israeli installations with missiles and drones. Claimed targets included oil facilities, military sites, and air bases across the region.

Jaishankar Highlights IMEC Role Amid West Asia Conflict

PARIS

S. Jaishankar stressed the importance of the India-Middle East-Europe Economic Corridor (IMEC) in improving global connectivity during ongoing tensions in West Asia. Speaking at the G7 Foreign Ministers' Meeting in France, he said current conflicts highlight the need for stronger and more reliable trade routes and supply chains. He noted that disruptions in the region make it essential to build secure and resilient economic links.

Jaishankar pointed out that India's growing trade agreements, including those with the European Union, European Free Trade Association, and the United Kingdom, have increased the value and usefulness of IMEC. He said these partnerships are helping strengthen economic cooperation and connectivity across regions. He also appreciated the rising interest among global partners in supporting the IMEC initiative. According to him, this reflects a shared understanding of the need for stable and efficient trade corridors.

During the meeting, Jaishankar raised the need for reforms in the United Nations Security Council. He highlighted issues affecting the Global South, including energy shortages, fertiliser supply concerns, and food security challenges. On the sidelines, he held discussions with officials from the UK and Germany to review bilateral ties and global issues. He described the talks as productive and focused on strengthening cooperation.

India Strengthens Strategic Ties with Israel

WASHINGTON

India's pragmatic and balanced approach in the Middle East is helping deepen its strategic partnership with Israel, according to a report by the Middle East Forum.

Over the past three decades, ties between India and Israel have steadily grown from limited diplomatic engagement into a strong relationship focused on defence and technology. Shared concerns over terrorism, regional instability, and security challenges have played a key role in bringing the two countries closer.

The report noted that Israel has proven to be a reliable partner for India, especially in defence and technological cooperation. At the same time, India has maintained strong relations with Arab nations as part of its broader regional strategy. Cooperation between India and Israel now includes intelligence sharing, missile systems, surveillance tools, and counterterrorism efforts.

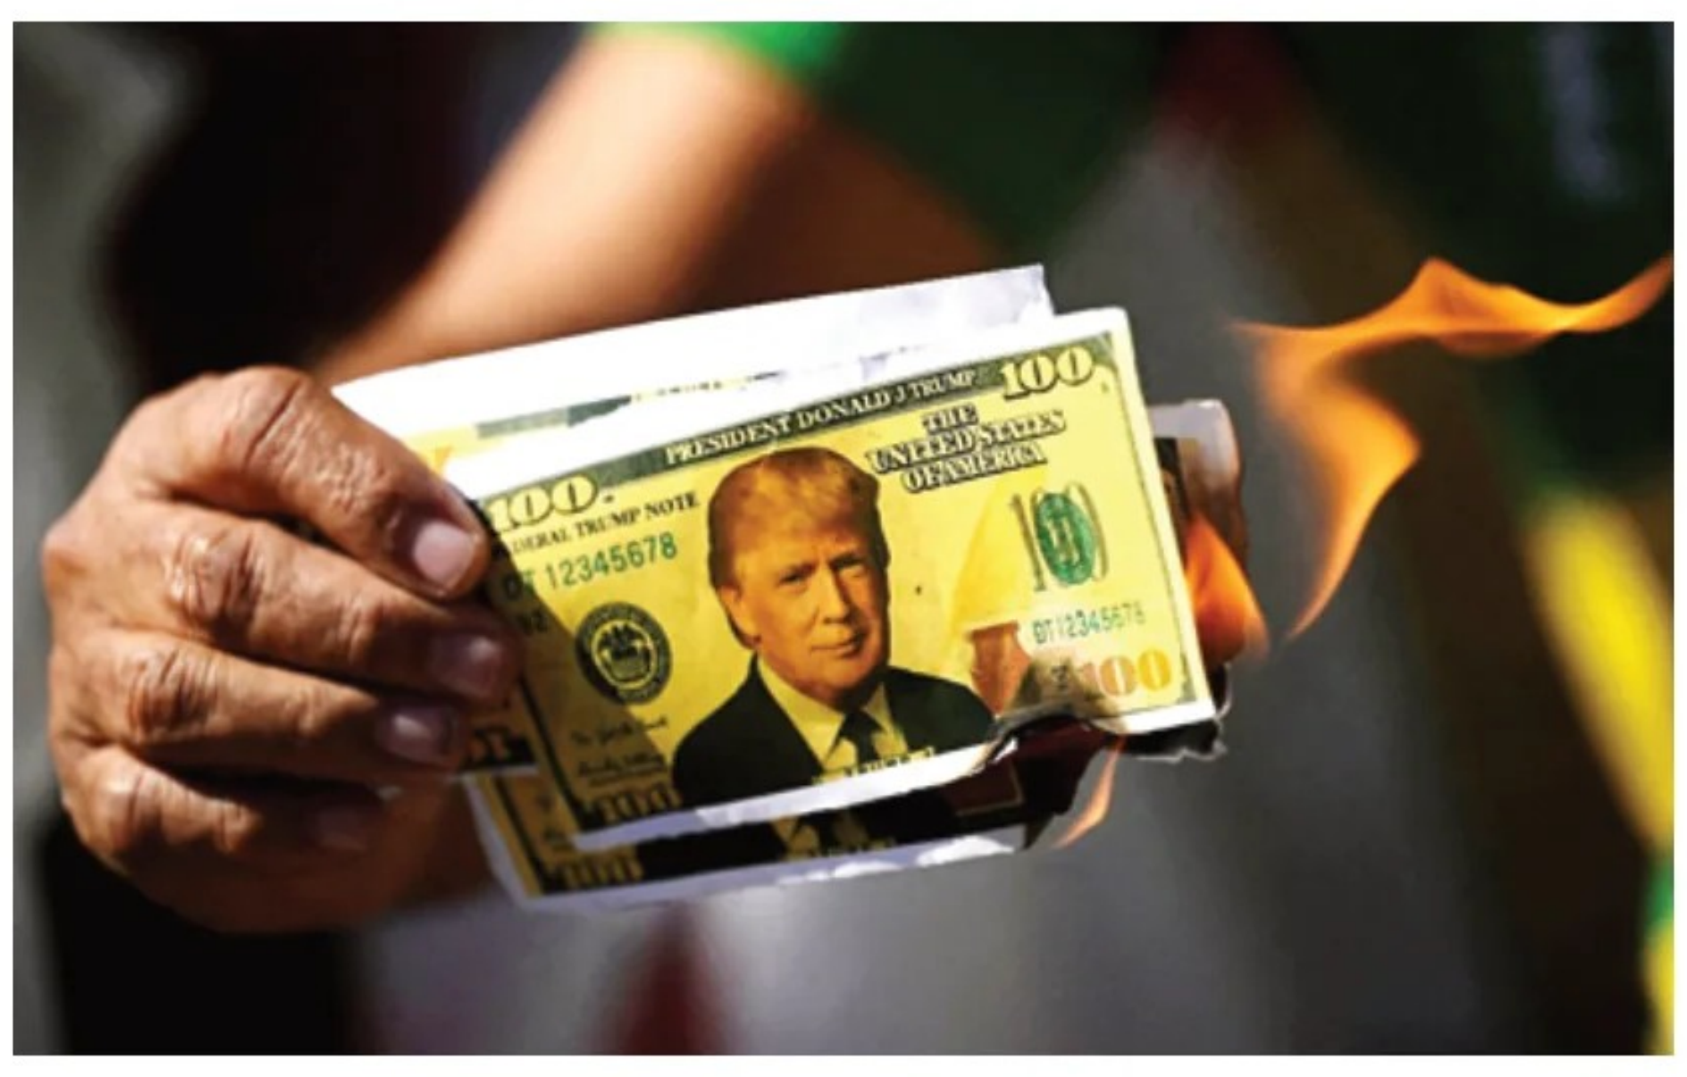
A major milestone was the 2025 Memorandum of Understanding on joint development and co-production, which reflects growing strategic alignment. This partnership also supports India's push for self-reliance under the 'Make in India' initiative by reducing dependence on foreign suppliers.

Israel's strengths in defence innovation, cybersecurity, and advanced military systems have made it a key partner for India. Intelligence cooperation and border security technologies have further strengthened ties.

In recent years, India has also expanded engagement with countries like the United Arab Emirates and Saudi Arabia in trade, energy, and investment. External Affairs Minister S. Jaishankar highlighted Israel's consistent support for India during security challenges.

India's balanced Middle East policy is strengthening ties with Israel while maintaining strong relations with key Arab nations and expanding defence and technology cooperation

Trump Signature To Feature On US Currency First Time



WASHINGTON

In a historic move, the United States Department of the Treasury has announced that US paper currency will soon carry the signature of President Donald Trump, marking a major break from a 165-year-old tradition.

According to reports, the redesigned notes are being introduced as part of celebrations marking the 250th anniversary of American independence. For the first time, the long-standing practice of including the US treasurer's signature will be discontinued, leaving only the president's signature alongside that of Treasury Secretary Scott Bessent.

The first batch of $100 bills featuring Trump's signature is expected to be printed in June, though it may take a few weeks before they enter general circulation through banks. Officials clarified that apart from the signature change, the overall design and layout of the currency will remain unchanged.

Currently, US currency still carries the signatures of former Treasury Secretary Janet Yellen and former Treasurer Lynn Malerba.

Treasury Secretary Bessent described the move as a symbolic step to honour both the country's achievements and Trump's leadership during a landmark anniversary year. Meanwhile, plans to introduce a $1 coin featuring Trump have reportedly been delayed due to legal restrictions that prohibit depicting living individuals on US coins. No official image of the new $100 bill has been released so far.

DRUG BUST

Canadian Drug Trafficker Pleads Guilty In US Court

LOS ANGELES

A Canadian national has admitted guilt in a large cross-border drug trafficking case worth millions of dollars, according to the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Guramrit Sidhu, 62, a resident of Brampton, acknowledged that he led a criminal network responsible for moving significant quantities of drugs from the United States into Canada. The United States Department of Justice confirmed that he pleaded guilty to operating a continuing criminal enterprise.

Officials said that from September 2020 to February 2023, the group handled more than 850 kilograms of narcotics, including methamphetamine and cocaine. The total value of the seized drugs was estimated between 15 million and 17 million US dollars.

According to investigators, Sidhu coordinated the transport of drugs using long-haul trucks. He also set up coded identification systems, including specific phone numbers and currency serial numbers, to ensure secure handovers between couriers. Once the shipments reached Canada, they were retrieved and distributed in different regions.

Sidhu was taken into custody and extradited from Canada in October 2024. He is among several individuals charged in a 23-count federal indictment issued in January 2024. Authorities noted that he is the seventh accused to plead guilty, while others involved in the case have already received prison sentences.

The investigation was carried out with the support of multiple agencies from the United States and Canada, reflecting strong international coordination. Sidhu is expected to be sentenced on July 9 and could face a minimum of 20 years in prison, with the possibility of a life sentence.

Aakash Chopra predicts All-Indian IPL Cap sweep

Aakash Chopra predicts IPL 2026 Orange and Purple Caps will remain with Indian stars, highlighting top batsmen and bowlers

NEW DELHI

As the cricket world gears up for the IPL 2026 opener, former Indian opener turned commentator Aakash Chopra has placed his bets on an all-Indian lineup for the season's top honors. With the defending champions, Royal Challengers Bengaluru, set to face Sunrisers Hyderabad in the kickoff match, Chopra believes the prestigious Orange and Purple Caps will stay firmly in domestic hands this year.

In his latest analysis, Chopra identified young sensations Yashasvi Jaiswal and Shubman Gill as the primary contenders for the Orange Cap. Both openers have previously tasted glory in this category and are expected to dominate the run charts again. Chopra also refused to rule out the legendary Virat Kohli, a two-time winner, noting his evergreen hunger for runs. He further suggested that if the Delhi Capitals enjoy a deep playoff run, KL Rahul could emerge as a dark horse for the title.

Chopra placed particular emphasis on Jaiswal's journey, noting that the youngster has amassed over 1,600 runs in the last three seasons. A haul of 600 to 650 runs this year could be his golden ticket back into India's white-ball squads.

Turning his attention to the bowlers, Chopra named Mumbai Indians' spearhead Jasprit Bumrah as the favorite for the Purple Cap, provided he remains injury-free. He also highlighted Kolkata Knight Riders' mystery spinner Varun Chakravarthy as a major threat. As the 2026 season begins, fans are strapped in to see if these Indian superstars can live up to Chopra's high expectations on the grandest T20 stage.

KRUNAL PANDYA reclaims his identity as All-Rounder

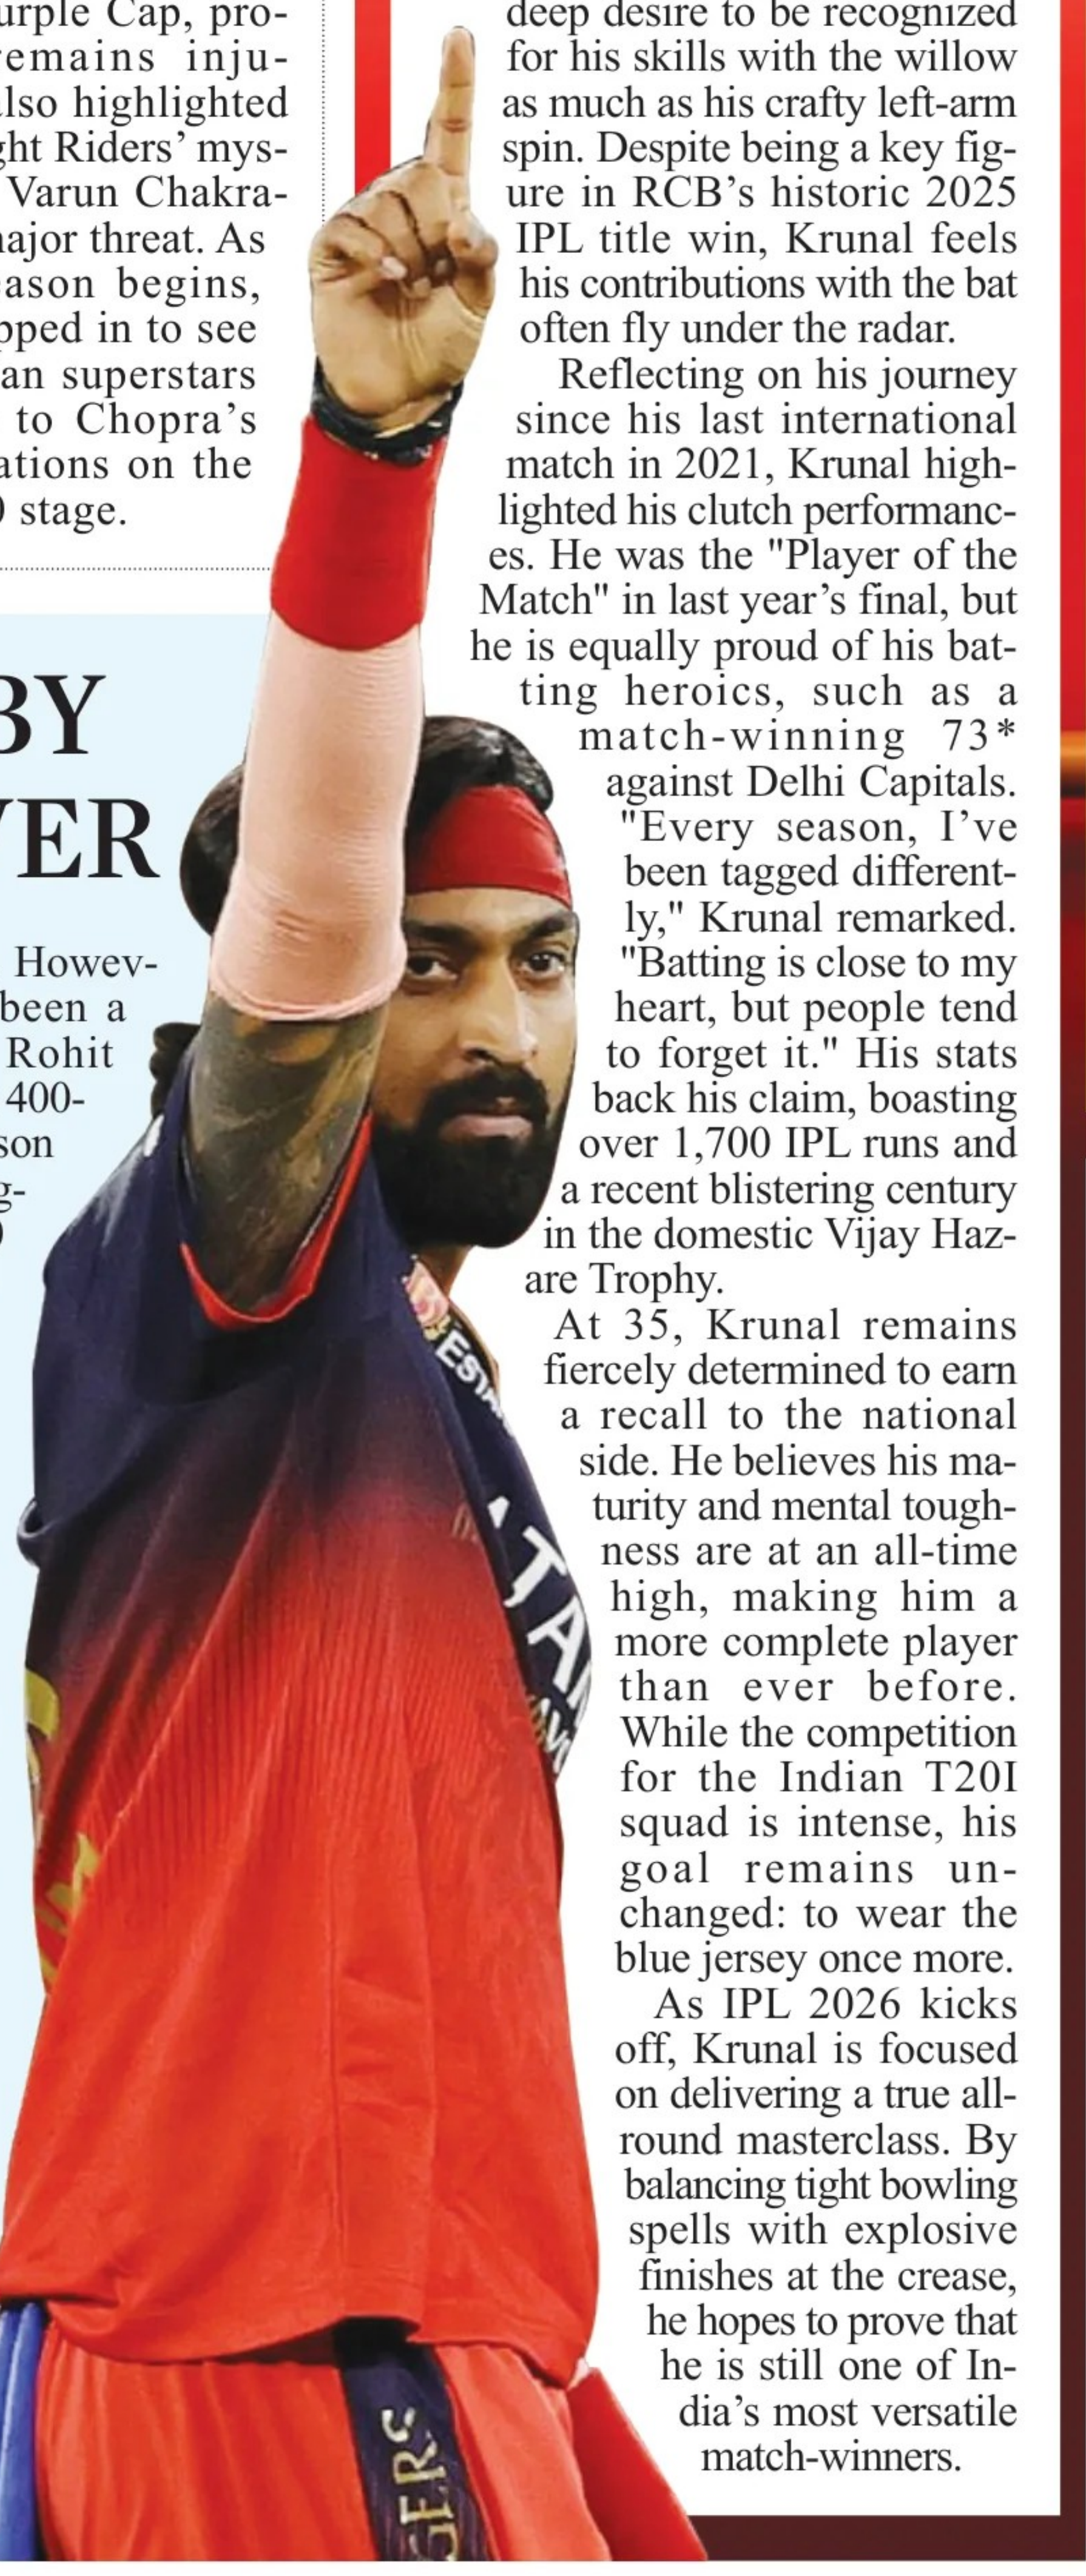
BENGALURU

Indian cricketer Krunal Pandya has a clear message for fans and selectors: do not forget his batting. Speaking on a recent podcast, the Royal Challengers Bengaluru (RCB) star expressed a deep desire to be recognized for his skills with the willow as much as his crafty left-arm spin. Despite being a key figure in RCB's historic 2025 IPL title win, Krunal feels his contributions with the bat often fly under the radar.

Reflecting on his journey since his last international match in 2021, Krunal highlighted his clutch performances. He was the "Player of the Match" in last year's final, but he is equally proud of his batting heroics, such as a match-winning 73* against Delhi Capitals. "Every season, I've been tagged differently," Krunal remarked. "Batting is close to my heart, but people tend to forget it." His stats back his claim, boasting over 1,700 IPL runs and a recent blistering century in the domestic Vijay Hazare Trophy.

At 35, Krunal remains fiercely determined to earn a recall to the national side. He believes his maturity and mental toughness are at an all-time high, making him a more complete player than ever before. While the competition for the Indian T20I squad is intense, his goal remains unchanged: to wear the blue jersey once more.

As IPL 2026 kicks off, Krunal is focused on delivering a true all-round masterclass. By balancing tight bowling spells with explosive finishes at the crease, he hopes to prove that he is still one of India's most versatile match-winners.



Chopra backs fit Virat Kohli to outshine veterans

NEW DELHI

As the cricket world prepares for tonight's IPL 2026 opener, former India opener Aakash Chopra has placed his bets on Virat Kohli to be the standout performer among the league's "Big Three." Analyzing the prospects of Kohli, Rohit Sharma, and MS Dhoni, Chopra highlighted that fitness and batting position give the Bengaluru star a distinct edge over his legendary peers this season.

Chopra pointed out that at 37, Kohli's discipline remains his greatest weapon. "The focus will be on Virat because the guy is so fit," Chopra remarked, noting that Kohli's role as an opener allows him to dictate the game's pace. With 8,661 career runs and eight centuries already to his name, the tournament's all-time leading scorer enters the season in prime physical condition to extend his record.

In contrast, Chopra admitted that the road is much tougher for MS Dhoni. At his age, stepping onto the field after a ten-month break to keep wickets for 20 overs and bat only a dozen balls is "the toughest thing to do." Meanwhile, he expects Rohit Sharma to maintain a fearless, aggressive approach for Mumbai, focusing on maximizing the powerplay by "seeing the ball and hitting the ball."

Ultimately, Chopra's analysis suggests that while all three veterans remain icons of the game, Kohli's relentless fitness and top-order slot make him the most likely to dominate the charts. As Bengaluru faces Hyderabad tomorrow, fans will see if the "King" can spark another historic run.

NITA AMBANI STUNNED BY ROHIT'S FITNESS MAKEOVER

MUMBAI

In a moment that has sent social media into a frenzy, Mumbai Indians owner Nita Ambani expressed utter disbelief at Rohit Sharma's physical transformation. Meeting the squad ahead of their Sunday IPL opener against Kolkata Knight Riders, Ambani was seen marveling at the 38-year-old's lean new look. "My god, Rohit, I did not recognize you! You look like a young boy," she reportedly told the star batter during her visit.

This dramatic change is the result of months of grueling dedication. Since retiring from Test cricket last May, Rohit has completely overhauled his lifestyle. His mission is clear: he is chasing one final dream—the 2027 ICC World Cup in Africa.

To get there, the veteran has traded his previous physique for a high-performance frame, proving he isn't ready to slow down just yet. Statistically, Rohit's "second innings" is already looking bright. Last year, he averaged a stellar 50.00 in ODIs and was named Player of the Series against Australia. However, the IPL has been a different story. Rohit hasn't crossed the 400-run mark in a season since 2016, averaging just 26.00 over the last nine years. This fitness surge is his answer to those declining numbers.

By shedding the weight and regaining his agility, Rohit aims to silence critics who labeled him a fading force in the T20 format. As Mumbai Indians prepare for battle, the "Hitman" looks sharper than ever, determined to dominate the crease and keep his World Cup ambitions alive until the very last ball.

IPL 2026 Season kicks off in Bengaluru

NEW DELHI

The wait is finally over for cricket fans as the 19th season of the Indian Premier League (IPL) officially begins from today, March 28. In a blockbuster opening clash, the defending champions, Royal Challengers Bengaluru, will host the Sunrisers Hyderabad at the M. Chinnaswamy Stadium. The high-octane tournament is scheduled to run until May 31, spanning 12 major cities across India, including Delhi, Mumbai, and Kolkata.

This year's edition features the familiar ten-team format, with heavyweights like Chennai Super Kings and Mumbai Indians eyeing the trophy. Each team will play 14 matches during the group stage, fighting for a top-four spot to enter the playoffs. Fans can expect plenty of action-packed weekends, as the schedule includes 12 double-header days. Evening matches are set to start at 7:30 PM IST, while afternoon games will begin at 3:30 PM IST.

Watching the games has never been easier or more interactive. For television viewers, Star Sports remains the exclusive home for live broadcasts. Digital fans can stream every delivery on the JioHotstar app and website. In a push for inclusivity, the coverage will be available in eight languages, including Bhojpuri and Haryanvi.

Mobile users can also enjoy a "vertical feed" designed specifically for phones, alongside innovative features like 360-degree viewing and multi-camera angles. From the high altitudes of Dharamsala to the coastal heat of Chennai, the stage is perfectly set for another summer of unforgettable cricketing drama.

Piastri leads the pack at Suzuka Practice

SUZUKA

McLaren's Oscar Piastri signaled a massive comeback by clocking the fastest time during the second practice session for the Japanese Grand Prix. After a frustrating start to the season where he failed to finish the first two races, the 24-year-old Australian mastered the iconic 5.8 km Suzuka circuit with a blistering lap of 1:30.133. His performance gave McLaren a much-needed boost following recent reliability scares.

The session was a tight contest, with Mercedes continuing their dominant form. Kimi Antonelli, fresh off his maiden Formula One victory in China, finished just 0.092 seconds behind Piastri. His teammate and current championship leader, George Russell, took the third spot. The Mercedes duo has been the team to beat this year, having secured one-two finishes in every qualifying session and main race so far. They are currently separated by only four points at the top of the standings.

Ferrari's Charles Leclerc and Lewis Hamilton remained consistent, finishing fifth and sixth in both practice sessions. Meanwhile, Red Bull's Max Verstappen struggled to find his usual pace, ending the second session in 10th place. Adding to the drama, Fernando Alonso finished 19th after arriving late to Japan following the birth of his first child.

Despite Piastri's speed, concerns remain for McLaren as Lando Norris spent significant time sidelined with garage repairs. With Audi's Nico Hulkenberg showing surprising pace in seventh, the grid is tightening up. All eyes now turn to qualifying to see if McLaren can finally break the Mercedes stranglehold.

Oscar Piastri led Suzuka practice, boosting McLaren after poor starts. Mercedes duo Kimi Antonelli and George Russell stayed strong. Ferrari consistent, Verstappen struggled, Alonso lagged. Qualifying will test if McLaren can challenge Mercedes dominance overall.

European Giants edge closer to World Cup

MEXICO CITY

The high-stakes race for the final spots in the 2026 FIFA World Cup reached a boiling point last night as Europe's heavyweights battled through a dramatic playoff round. Italy, Sweden, and Denmark all secured vital victories, moving within one win of qualifying for the expanded 48-team tournament set to kick off this June across North America. In Path A, Italy silenced Northern Ireland with a professional 2-0 win, thanks to second-half strikes from Sandro Tonali and Moise Kean. The European giants now face a tense final showdown against Bosnia and Herzegovina. Meanwhile, Path B belonged to Sweden's star striker Viktor Gyökeres, who netted a stunning hat-trick to dismantle Ukraine 3-1. Sweden will now meet Robert Lewandowski's Poland in a massive winner-takes-all clash.

The drama continued in Path C, where Turkiye edged past Romania 1-0, while Kosovo pulled off a miraculous 4-3 comeback against Slovakia. In Path D, Denmark looked every bit the favorite, crushing North Macedonia 4-0 with a brace from Gustav Isaksen. The Danes will now prepare for a physical battle against Czechia. Outside of Europe, Bolivia kept their dreams alive by defeating Suriname 2-1, setting up a final intercontinental hurdle against Iraq on April 1.

With the opening match between Mexico and South Africa fast approaching on June 11, the pressure is mounting. For these nations, the margin for error has vanished; only 90 minutes of football now stand between them and a plane ticket to the world's biggest sporting stage.

Europe's World Cup playoffs saw Italy, Sweden, and Denmark secure crucial wins, bringing them close to qualification for FIFA 2026, with tense final clashes ahead.

IOC mandates DNA tests for female events

NEW DELHI

In a major policy shift, the International Olympic Committee (IOC) announced the reintroduction of genetic testing to determine eligibility for female sports. The new mandate requires athletes in female categories to undergo screening for the SRY gene. This DNA test identifies the specific gene responsible for male physical development, marking a significant change in how elite competition is regulated globally.

IOC President Kirsty Coventry explained that the SRY test offers a "precise and permanent" way to confirm biological sex. Under the new rules, athletes who test negative for the gene qualify for female events. Those who test positive—including transgender women and certain athletes with Differences of Sexual Development (DSD)—will be restricted to male, mixed, or open categories. An exception remains for rare conditions like Complete Androgen Insensitivity Syndrome (CAIS), where no athletic advantage is gained from testosterone.

The decision follows a two-year scientific and ethical review involving over 1,100 athletes worldwide. Experts concluded that male biological development provides significant performance edges in strength, power, and endurance. Coventry emphasized that these measures are essential for ensuring fair competition and athlete safety, particularly in high-impact contact sports, while promising to maintain strict medical confidentiality.

While this policy applies only to elite IOC events like the Olympic Games, it sets a powerful precedent. National committees are now tasked with educating athletes and providing mental health support during this transition. The move reflects the IOC's ongoing struggle to balance inclusivity with the protection of the female sporting category.

Jewar residents excited as Airport opens soon

Greater Noida

Residents of Jewar are thrilled as the Noida International Airport is set to be inaugurated by Prime Minister Narendra Modi. Locals hope the airport will bring new jobs and business opportunities. Many praised farmers for donating their land, making the project possible. Heavy security is in place, and preparations for a public meeting are underway. The airport features modern facilities, including solar energy usage and face-recognition security. Officials say the cargo terminal will boost manufacturing, and the terminal will help passengers complete formalities faster. The runway inauguration is scheduled for March 28.

DigiHaat empowers Artisans and Farmers digitally

New Delhi

The government's new platform, DigiHaat, under ONDC, connects India's artisans, farmers, and small producers directly to online markets. Launched by DPIIT, it focuses on rural and underserved sellers, including women entrepreneurs and SHG-linked producers. Craftspeople from Jaipur, Bastar, Kashmir, and Sikkim are already onboarded. DigiHaat also integrates mobility services like Namma Yatri and Bharat Taxi. A Beta AI toolkit will help small sellers with regional language catalogues, automated listings, and smarter logistics. The government aims to bring 10 crore producers onto the platform, boosting incomes and formal financial access, while testing new e-commerce features for wider adoption.

Dr Reddy's renames drug amid court concerns

New Delhi

Dr. Reddy's Laboratories will rename its semaglutide drug from "Olymviq" to "Olymra" following concerns raised by the Delhi High Court. The court noted the original name could confuse patients, doctors, and pharmacists due to its similarity with Novo Nordisk's "Ozempic." Dr. Reddy's, the first Indian company approved for generic semaglutide, had temporarily halted sales. The move comes as generic competition rises after the patent expiry. CEO Erez Israeli said the firm aims to expand access to diabetes therapies in India. Shares dipped 2% to Rs 1,274.75 on BSE during intraday trading.

Major Financial rules change from April 1

New Delhi

India will see several financial and regulatory changes from April 1, 2026, affecting taxes, fuel, banking, and rail travel. The new Income Tax Act 2025 replaces the 1961 version, simplifying terms and offering zero tax for individuals earning up to Rs 12 lakh under Section 87A. Forms 16/16A are replaced by Forms 130/131. Aadhaar alone won't be enough for PAN applications. Railways now allow refunds up to eight hours before departure. Fuel costs, including LPG, PNG, and CNG, may change. Banks like HDFC, Bandhan, and PNB have updated withdrawal limits and transaction rules.

INDIA SPENDS BIG TO PROTECT SKIES AND SEAS

India strengthens national security with Rs 858 crore defense deals, enhancing air and maritime surveillance under local expertise

NEW DELHI

India took a massive step forward in national security by signing two major defense deals worth Rs 858 crore. These agreements, finalized at Kartavya Bhawan-2, aim to guard the nation's borders from the air and keep a close eye on the vast Indian Ocean.

The first part of the plan involves a Rs 445 crore deal with Russia for the Tunguska Air Defence Missile System. These advanced missiles act like a high-tech shield for the Indian Army. They are designed to track and shoot down threats like enemy planes, drones, and cruise missiles. This move doesn't just add firepower; it also deepens the long-standing friendship between India and Russia.

The second deal, worth Rs 413 crore, focuses on the "Guardians of the Ocean." The Indian Navy uses Boeing P8I aircraft to spot submarines and monitor sea routes. Under the "Make in India" initiative, Boeing's Indian subsidiary will now handle the deep maintenance and inspections for these planes right here at home. This ensures that the fleet stays ready for action without needing to send equipment abroad.

Defense Secretary Rajesh Kumar Singh and other top officials attended the signing, marking a proud moment for the country's self-reliance goals. By investing in these technologies, India is ensuring its soldiers and sailors have the best tools to keep the public safe. These contracts prove that whether it is sky-high threats or deep-sea mysteries, the nation is prepared to defend its territory with local expertise and global strength.

India finalizes seven PM MITRA textile hubs, boosting production, jobs, and modernizing traditional weaving under Make in India

Seven giant textile parks confirmed for India

NEW DELHI

The Indian government has officially locked in the locations for seven massive textile hubs under the PM MITRA scheme. Union Textiles Minister Giriraj Singh confirmed in Parliament that these specialized parks will be built across seven different states to boost clothing production and create jobs.

The chosen sites include Virudhnagar in Tamil Nadu, Warangal in Telangana, Navasari in Gujarat, and Kalaburagi in Karnataka. Rounding out the list are Dhar in Madhya Pradesh, Lucknow in Uttar Pradesh, and Amravati in Maharashtra. While these seven spots are now final, the Minister clarified that there are currently no plans to add any more sites under this specific program.

However, the future still looks bright for the industry. The government recently announced a new plan in the 2026-27 Budget to set up even more mega textile parks using a "challenge mode," where states compete to host them. This keeps the momentum going for the "Make in India" vision in the garment sector.

Beyond giant factories, the government is also wrapping its arms around local artisans. New schemes like TEEM are being launched to help traditional weavers upgrade their old machinery and get better testing centers for their fabrics. From providing solar lighting to helping weavers sell their hand-made goods in international markets, the goal is clear: modernize the industry while protecting the hardworking people who have kept India's textile traditions alive for generations.

High prices turn gold into pure investment

NEW DELHI

India's age-old love affair with gold is changing shape. As prices skyrocket, a new report from ICRA and Assocham reveals that Indians are buying less jewelry and instead turning to gold as a serious financial investment.

During the first half of this fiscal year, demand for gold jewelry dropped by a significant 26 percent. However, people haven't stopped buying the precious metal entirely; they are simply changing how they buy it. Demand for gold bars and coins jumped by 15 percent, while investments in gold exchange-traded funds (ETFs) soared by 60 percent. This shift suggests that while a gold necklace might feel too expensive right now, a gold bar feels like a safe bet for the future.

The reason for the change is simple: the cost. Gold prices rose by 33 percent last year and have surged over 50 percent so far this year. This spike is driven by global tensions, a weaker rupee, and central banks around the world hoovering up over 1,000 tonnes of gold annually to stabilize their economies.

Even with these high prices, India remains the world's top gold consumer, making up 30 percent of global demand. To help shoppers, the government's mandatory hallmarking rules have made it easier to trust the purity of what they buy. Meanwhile, big organized jewelry brands are expanding into smaller towns, making it easier for everyone to trade or recycle their old gold. While the wedding season still keeps the market alive, the "gold brick" is quickly becoming the new favorite over the "gold bangle."

Firms struggle to fund AI Cloud needs

NEW DELHI

A global report warns 88% of companies lack cloud capacity for AI, highlighting a gap between ambitions and digital infrastructure readiness worldwide

A massive gap has appeared between corporate dreams of Artificial Intelligence and the reality of their computer power. A new global report reveals that while almost every company sees AI as the future, 88 percent of firms admit their current cloud spending is simply not enough to support it.

The study, which surveyed 2,300 experts across 33 countries, paints a startling picture of the digital age. Even though businesses have been using cloud technology for nearly twenty years, only 14 percent have reached a "mature" level. This lack of preparation is putting modern projects and AI goals at serious risk.

"AI is moving much faster than companies can keep up with," explained Charlie Li, a top executive meeting which was held recently.

He warned that if businesses don't fix their digital foundations, their expensive AI investments might never truly pay off.

The problem isn't just about money; it is also about strategy. While new "AI Chiefs" are pushing for more investment, traditional tech officers are struggling with rising costs and complex systems. Currently, fewer than half of the organizations surveyed are actually happy with how their cloud systems are performing.

To bridge this gap, successful "cloud leaders" are now using AI to manage their own migrations and moving toward fully managed platforms. The report concludes that if companies want to win the AI race, they must stop treating the cloud as just a storage space and start seeing it as the engine for their future growth.

India's Digital Success becomes model for world

NEW DELHI

India's rapid digital growth has taken center stage at the United Nations in Geneva. Experts now view the country's "Digital Public Infrastructure" as a roadmap for other developing nations to follow. At a recent session, global leaders discussed how India uses technology to ensure every citizen has the right to grow and succeed.

The secret to this success is the "JAM Trinity"—a powerful combination of bank accounts, digital ID cards (Aadhaar), and mobile phones. This system now reaches 97 percent of the population. In 2025 alone, the UPI payment system handled a staggering 228 billion transactions. This allowed everyone from rickshaw drivers to street vendors to join the modern economy easily. Importantly, over half of these bank accounts are held by women, helping bridge the gender gap.

The impact isn't just financial; it's saving lives. The Ayushman Bharat scheme provides health cover to 55 crore people, preventing families from falling into poverty due to medical bills. Meanwhile, online doctor consultations and digital portals for laborers ensure that even the most vulnerable people can access help with a simple click.

What makes India's model special is that it is built as a "public good" rather than a private business. Experts noted that this approach, rooted in values like service and compassion, allows technology to protect traditional culture while embracing the future. By sharing this knowledge, India is helping create millions of new "green" and digital jobs, proving that technology can truly be a force for good.

India secures future harvests with new fertilizer deals

NEW DELHI

The Indian government moved to protect the nation's food security by announcing a massive plan to ensure a steady supply of fertilizers for farmers. To avoid risks from global conflicts, the Department of Fertilizers has signed long-term deals with several resource-rich countries to keep essential farming nutrients flowing.

Union Minister JP Nadda informed the Lok Sabha that India is working hard to reduce its dependence on foreign nations. Currently, the country relies heavily on imports for raw materials—including 100 percent of its potash and 86 percent of its rock phosphate. To fix this, the government is encouraging local companies to build new factories. These new plants are expected to produce nearly 60 lakh metric tonnes of fertilizers annually, shifting the focus toward "Make in India" for the agricultural sector.

In a modern twist, the government is also turning to "Green Ammonia" as part of the National Green Hydrogen Mission. This cleaner, more sustainable option will help modernize the industry while protecting the environment.

Beyond just supply, the government wants farmers to use these chemicals more wisely. Experts from the Indian Council of Agricultural Research are now training farmers to move away from using too much urea, which can hurt the soil.

Cancel your LPG from home with ease

NEW DELHI

Switching to piped natural gas (PNG) just became much simpler for Indian households. The Ministry of Petroleum and Natural Gas announced that consumers no longer need to visit a crowded dealership to surrender their old LPG cylinders. A new digital system allows the entire process to be finished right from your living room.

Neeraj Mittal, the Secretary of the Ministry, launched the "MyPNG-D Portal" to handle these requests online. To cancel a connection, a user only needs their registered mobile number or their unique LPG ID. This move removes the paperwork and travel time that previously made switching fuels a hassle for many families.

The government is calling this a win for both convenience and the community. When a PNG user surrenders their LPG connection, that cylinder can be redirected to a family in a rural area who still relies on wood or coal for cooking. In just the first twenty-four hours of the portal going live, nearly 1,800 "responsible citizens" have already used the tool to give up their old accounts.

By making the transition digital, the Ministry hopes to speed up the move toward cleaner cooking energy. Mr. Mittal thanked the early users on social media, urging others to follow suit. This initiative is a key part of the government's plan to ensure that every kitchen in India has access to safe, modern, and efficient fuel without the stress of unnecessary office visits.

Global energy crisis hits Bangladesh's fuel budget

NEW DELHI

Bangladesh is facing a severe economic challenge as the ongoing Middle East crisis threatens to drive its fuel import bill up by 40 percent. According to a new report by Zero Carbon Analytics, the country may have to spend an extra $4.8 billion this year just to keep the lights on and engines running.

This spike in costs is a painful reminder of the 2022 energy crisis triggered by the Russia-Ukraine war. Back then, skyrocketing gas prices led to massive blackouts affecting 130 million people. Now, history seems to be repeating itself. Because Bangladesh relies on imports for 65 percent of its power needs, any trouble in the Middle East quickly turns into a crisis at home.

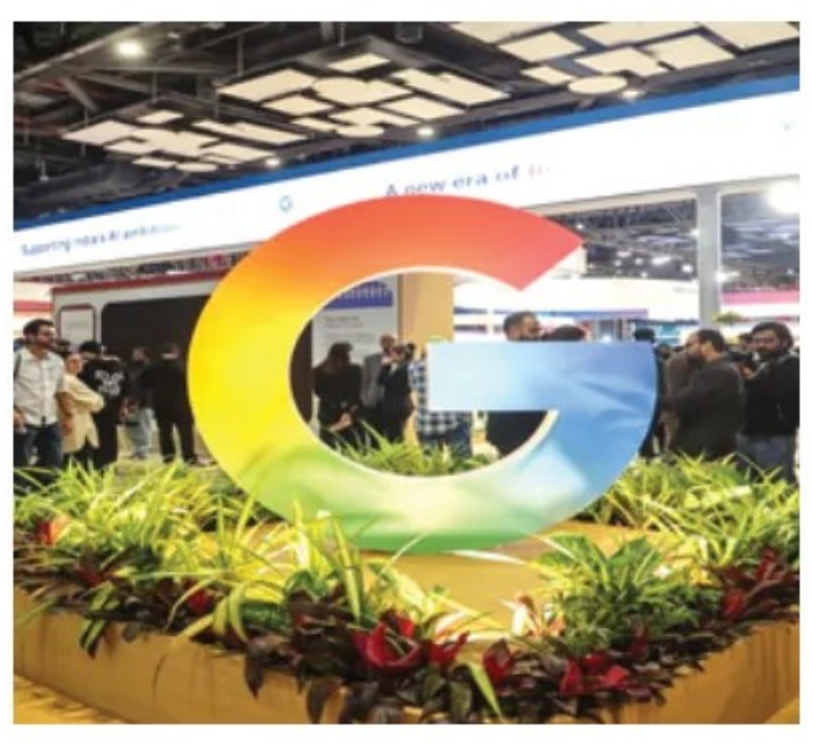
The situation is made worse by geography. Most of Bangladesh's fuel travels through the Strait of Hormuz, a narrow waterway now disrupted by conflict. Shipments of crude oil from Saudi Arabia and diesel are already being delayed or canceled. Even more worrying is the shortage of Liquified Natural Gas (LNG). Qatar, which provides the vast majority of Bangladesh's gas, has suspended some shipments, leaving the country's energy future uncertain.

These rising costs are draining the nation's foreign currency reserves, making it harder to pay for other essential goods.

GOOGLE SEARCH LIVE

Google Search now talks in many languages

NEW DELHI



Searching the internet just became as easy as having a chat with a friend. Google has officially launched "Search Live" globally, bringing real-time AI conversations to over 200 countries. This update is a game-changer for India, as the feature now supports nine more local languages, including Bengali, Tamil, Telugu, and Kannada.

Powered by the advanced Gemini 3.1 Flash Live model, the tool allows users to skip typing altogether. By tapping the "Live" icon in the Google app, you can ask questions out loud and receive natural audio responses. It feels less like a machine and more like a helpful assistant that understands your preferred mother tongue.

The technology goes beyond just voice; it can actually "see" what you see. By using your phone's camera, you can show Google a tricky DIY project—like a confusing bookshelf assembly—and get instant guidance. The app analyzes the visual context and provides spoken tips along with helpful web links to finish the job.

This launch coincides with a new national AI training program. In partnership with Google and YouTube, the Indian government is set to train 15,000 people in creative fields like animation and gaming. By combining high-tech tools with deep local roots, Google is making sure that the future of the internet isn't just about what you type, but how you speak and what you observe in the world around you.

Champions RCB's to Hunt "Back To Back" Titles

RCB begin title defense against SRH in IPL opener, blending tribute, rivalry, and explosive cricket in Bengaluru tonight.

BENGALURU

The wait is finally over. Today at 7:30 p.m. IST, the Indian Premier League returns to the M. Chinnaswamy Stadium for a high-stakes "South Indian Derby." Defending champions Royal Challengers Bengaluru (RCB) will host Sunrisers Hyderabad (SRH) in a match filled with both sporting intensity and deep emotion.

This marks the first time in history that RCB enters the tournament as reigning titleholders. However, the mood is bittersweet. The BCCI has canceled the traditional opening ceremony to honor 11 fans who tragically lost their lives during last year's victory celebrations. In a moving gesture, 11 seats will remain permanently empty, and players will wear the number 11 during practice.

On the field, the battle promises a "run-fest." While Virat Kohli looks in peak form—recently smashing 45 runs off just 19 balls in practice—RCB faces a major "bowling headache." Star pacers Nuwan Thushara and Yash Dayal are both out, leaving veteran Bhuvneshwar Kumar to lead a depleted attack. They must find a way to stop Hyderabad's "power-hitting duo," Travis Head and Abhishek Sharma, who previously smashed a team century in just 30 balls.

With Sunrisers led by stand-in captain Ishan Kishan, the visitors hope to spoil the champions' homecoming. Data experts give RCB a slight 54% edge due to home advantage, but the flat pitch means any score could be chased. As the floodlights flare and the Bengaluru roar reaches a fever pitch, this season opener transcends sport. It is a powerful tribute to the eleven fans whose spirits remain a permanent part of the M. Chinnaswamy Stadium. With eleven empty seats watching over the pitch and "Number 11" jerseys worn in honor, RCB carries the heartbeat of an entire city into their title defense.

Against the explosive power of Hyderabad, the champions must now turn grief into glory. The stage is set, the legacy is calling, and a new era of dominance begins. Let the games begin!

Indian Archers Dominate Asia Cup with Gold

BANGKOK

India dominated Asia Cup Stage I in archery, winning eight medals, including golds for Uday Kamboj, Prathamesh Jawkar, Tejal Salve, and mixed team triumph.

India's archery stars delivered a masterclass in precision by walking away with eight medals at the Asia Cup Stage I.

The team turned the tournament into a personal playground, particularly in the compound category where they swept the podium and left competitors trailing far behind.

The highlight was a thrilling showdown between teammates. In the men's individual final, Uday Kamboj showed incredible nerves of steel.

After falling behind early, he fired a perfect third round to overtake Prathamesh Jawkar, winning the gold with a narrow 145-144 score.

Rajat Chauhan joined them on the podium with a bronze, completing a clean sweep for India.

The success continued as Tejal Salve claimed the women's individual gold. She dominated the final against Mariia Dimidiuk, finishing with a commanding 144-135 victory.

India's teamwork was just as sharp; Chikitha Taniparthi and Rajat Chauhan paired up to snatch gold in the mixed team event after a tense battle against Malaysia.

While the women's compound team fought hard, they narrowly missed the top spot, earning a respectable silver against Kazakhstan.

These victories added to the bronze medals already secured by the men's compound and women's recurve teams earlier in the week.

By the time the dust settled, India had collected two golds, two silvers, and four bronzes.

Zverev crushes Cerundolo to face in-form sinner

MIAMI

Alexander Zverev delivered a masterclass in power hitting, brushing aside Francisco Cerundolo 6-1, 6-2 to reach the Miami Open semifinals. The 27-year-old German was in unstoppable form, securing his place in the last four of both Indian Wells and Miami in the same season for the first time in his career.

Cerundolo entered the match with high confidence after upsetting Daniil Medvedev earlier in the week. However, the Argentine had no answers for Zverev's relentless pace. The victory gives Zverev a 4-3 lead in their head-to-head series and marks his 25th appearance in an ATP Masters 1000 semifinal. Despite his dominance, Zverev remains cautious about his next opponent, stating that tomorrow will be his "toughest test" yet.

That test comes in the form of Jannik Sinner, who looks nearly invincible. Sinner earned his spot in the semifinals by racing past American Frances Tiafoe 6-2, 6-2. The Italian's performance was statistically staggering, dropping only nine points on his serve and finishing with a near-perfect performance rating. Sinner is currently on a ten-match winning streak and is eyeing a historic "Sunshine Double"—winning both Indian Wells and Miami in the same year.

Olympic hero Gurjant Singh retires from Hockey

NEW DELHI

Emotional scenes filled the room as double Olympic bronze medallist Gurjant Singh officially announced his retirement from international hockey. Speaking at the Hockey India Awards, the 31-year-old striker called time on a brilliant decade-long career. He leaves the turf as a national hero who played a massive role in the recent revival of Indian hockey on the global stage.

Born in Amritsar, Gurjant first shot to fame by scoring in the 2016 Junior World Cup final. Since his senior debut in 2017, he became a constant threat to defenders, earning 130 caps and scoring 33 goals. His crowning achievements include standing on the podium at both the Tokyo 2020 and Paris 2024 Olympics. Beyond the Olympic rings, he helped India clinch gold at the 2022 Asian Games and the 2017 Asia Cup.

"I feel incredibly satisfied," Gurjant told the audience. He reflected on his journey from a young boy dreaming of the blue jersey to becoming an Arjuna Award winner. He thanked his teammates, describing them as a family that supported him through every win and loss. Hockey India President Dilip Tirkey praised the forward, noting that his explosive pace and ability to score in high-pressure moments made him a player that opponents truly feared.

As Gurjant hangs up his stick, he leaves behind a legacy of dedication and success. From the dusty fields of Punjab to the world's biggest stadiums, his story remains an inspiration for every aspiring athlete in India.

ELITE STARS TRAIN HARD FOR ASIAN GAMES

BELLARY

India's top kabaddi stars have gathered in Bellary to begin a high-energy training camp aimed at gold. The Amateur Kabaddi Federation of India, alongside Mashal Sports, launched this special week-long program at the Inspire Institute of Sport. Running until April 2, the camp focuses on building the ultimate physical foundation for the upcoming 2026 Asian Games.

This isn't just a standard practice session; it is a scientific deep dive into player performance. Around 45 elite men and 45 top women athletes are participating, all fighting for a spot on the final national squad. Big names like Pawan Sehrawat, Naveen Kumar, and Arjun Deshwal are already on the mat, while women's star Ritu Negi is leading the charge for the female contingency.

Federation President Vibhor Vineet Jain emphasized that this camp is a vital step in modernizing the sport. By using advanced fitness methods and professional coaching, India aims to raise its game to a global standard. It is about turning skilled players into world-class athletes who can handle the intense pressure of international competition.

Anupam Goswami from Mashal Sports noted that this training will benefit the players far beyond the Asian Games. The strength and conditioning gains will also help them shine in the Pro Kabaddi League. As the players sweat through rigorous drills, the goal remains clear: to build a powerhouse Indian team that is faster, stronger, and more prepared than ever before to bring home the glory later this year.

Nicola Carey targets World Cup squad spot

ST. KITTS

Australian all-rounder Nicola Carey has her sights set on a major comeback as she eyes a spot in the 2026 ICC Women's T20 World Cup.

Currently touring the West Indies, Carey is making the most of her return to the national setup after a three-year hiatus.

With the global tournament in England just months away, the seam-bowling specialist is determined to prove she still belongs at the very top.

Carey was a fixture in Australia's dominant era, helping the team clinch the 2020 T20 World Cup and the 2022 ODI World Cup. However, she famously turned down a national contract to seek more consistent game time elsewhere.

Her gamble seems to have paid off; after strong domestic performances, she was recalled for the recent series against India and retained for the Caribbean tour.

The absence of star player Annabel Sutherland, who is currently resting, has opened a "massive" door for Carey.

During the recent 3-0 T20I series sweep against the West Indies, Carey even took on the challenge of opening the bowling.

Samson viewed as Dhoni's natural successor at CSK

NEW DELHI

Cricket legend Irfan Pathan believes a historic changing of the guard is finally approaching at Chennai Super Kings.

It's come to notice that the former pacer identified Sanju Samson as the perfect player to inherit the "baton" from MS Dhoni. With Dhoni's career likely entering its final chapter, Pathan argues that Samson's arrival at CSK marks a new era for the five-time champions.

Samson joins Chennai this season following a spectacular run as the Player of the Tournament in India's 2026 T20 World Cup victory.

Pathan noted that Samson isn't just a world-class wicketkeeper-batter; he is a figure fans can genuinely connect with.

"You can build your team around him," Pathan stated, suggesting that Dhoni is finally ready to pass on his legacy to someone with the caliber to lead the franchise into the future.

The discussion also touched on Dhoni's evolving role.

In recent years, a knee injury and age have seen the "Captain Cool" slide down the batting order to play as a two-over finisher.

However, Pathan urged the veteran to take more responsibility this season, suggesting he should bat for at least four or five overs to truly benefit the team.

He noted that the days of Dhoni easily finishing every game are fading, making Samson's presence even more vital.

As the 2026 IPL kicks off, all eyes are on the CSK dugout. Whether this is truly Dhoni's last dance or not, the stage is set for Samson to prove he is the rightful heir to the throne in Chennai.

Sabalenka faces Gauff in thrilling Miami Final

MIAMI

Tennis fans are in for a treat as World No. 1 Aryna Sabalenka set up a blockbuster final against home favorite Coco Gauff at the Miami Open. Sabalenka moved one step closer to the prestigious "Sunshine Double" after a commanding 6-4, 6-3 semifinal victory over Elena Rybakina.

The win marks Sabalenka's second consecutive final in Miami, a feat not seen by a top-ranked woman since Serena Williams a decade ago.

The semifinal match was a display of pure power. Sabalenka, nicknamed "Tiger," broke Rybakina's serve in the first set with a ferocious overhead shot.

She then stormed through the second set with a 4-0 start, eventually sealing the win with a massive cross-court forehand. This victory makes her only the fourth player this century to reach the final in her first four events of the season, joining legends like Martina Hingis and Victoria Azarenka.

On the other side of the net, American star Coco Gauff earned her spot in her first-ever Miami Open final by crushing Karolina Muchova 6-1, 6-1. After an early hiccup, Gauff went on a tear, winning 12 of the final 13 games.

The rivalry between Sabalenka and Gauff is perfectly balanced, with both players holding six wins each in their head-to-head history.

With Sabalenka chasing back-to-back titles and Gauff playing in front of a roaring home crowd, the summit clash promises to be an unforgettable battle for the 2026 trophy.
